OIL COMPANY PLANT DESTROYED WHEN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Damage Estimated at $250,000 Caused By Frequent Explosions Hamper Toledo Firemen

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 12.—Ignited by a bolt of lightning, during the night, part of the plant of the Monarch Oil Company was practically destroyed by fire today. Firemen turned their attention to nearby homes and other buildings. Officials of the Monarch company estimate the damage at $250,000. The lightning struck the roof over the boilerroom which mainly steam for heating the storage tanks in the building. Frequent explosions of the tanks added fresh fuel to the fire and increased the difficulty of the fire department. The north wall of the building collapsed during the morning but no one was injured.

AMERICA RIDING ON PROSPERITY WAVE; 1926 PROVES PROMISING

Agriculture Crops Improve In Last Month—Auto Factories Enjoying Boom Is Government Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—America is still riding on a wave of prosperity with indications that 1926 will be the greatest year in history with the exception of the war boom period. The federal reserve announced today that industrial production in the first six months of the year was larger than in any previous corresponding period.

Agriculture crops, with the exception of corn, oats, and hay, have improved in the last month because of favorable weather. Indications are that farmers will have a small share of the prosperity. Building construction for the first six months is ahead of the same period for 1925. Automobile production is turning out machines in record numbers.

"The large volume of activity in trade has reflected a sustained demand for goods both from urban and the rural population," the Reserve Board stated. "The demand for commodities by domestic consumers has been accompanied by a continued large volume of exports."

"Active business in recent months has been accompanied by relatively stable level of prices." Evidence that small merchants were enjoying good times was

AMERICANS LOSE BY DOPED CIGARETTES

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Tourists from the American boats arriving at Cherbourg and Havre and taking the train for Paris have reported to the police several times in the last month that a gang of confidence men have been reaping a big harvest by means of doped cigarettes handed to the victim by a benevolent looking man casually met with in the station or on the train.

The crook usually waits until he spots a man travelling alone, strikes up a conversation and offers the cigarette. If the newcomer is over for the first time it is easy to talk to him about what he should see in the gay capital. If he accepts the smoke conversation becomes hazy, the tourist gets dizzy and gradually his senses leave him. When he is awakened at Paris—boat trains come through without a stop—he is without his roll and often without his passport.

TWO KILLED WHEN TRACTION HITS CAR

DAYTON, O., Aug. 12.—The Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Hutchison, colored, South Euclid Ave., were instantly killed when their automobile was struck by a fast Dayton and Western Interurban car at the Crown Point grade crossing, on the Dayton and Richmond Road, Wednesday afternoon.

The automobile was struck squarely as the driver attempted to cross the track ahead of the locomotive. Bodies of the occupants were hurled some distance from the automobile wreckage.

The accident happened near Crown Point Church where the Rev. Mr. Hutchison was enroute to conduct services.

WHITTEMORE WILL HANG AT MIDNIGHT

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 12.—Richard Reese Whittemore, convicted murderer and leader of a band of jewel thieves, is to be hanged here at midnight.

A final desperate effort to save him is being made by his attorney, G. F. Pendleton, negro, who made a night dash into New England to appeal to Justice Louis D. Brandeis, of the United States Supreme Court, to stay the execution.

Pendleton was followed to Massachusetts by Roland K. Adams, assistant state's attorney who will try to prevent the stay. Justice Brandeis is at his summer home on Cape Cod.

Urged Into Politics In North Carolina

Mrs. Palmer Jernan, of Raleigh, N. C., is receiving active encouragement to become the Democratic candidate for the office of Lieutenant-Governor of North Carolina. Mrs. Jernan is a former President of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs and was a member of her state delegation to the National Democratic Convention in 1924.

$30,000 FIRE IN DOWNTOWN DAYTON

DAYTON, O., Aug. 12.—Fire which started in the Smith Photographic Studio on the third floor of the Dayton Building and Savings Building, E. Fourth St., at 10 o'clock, Wednesday night, caused damage estimated at $30,000.

Most of the loss was caused by smoke and water, ground floor stores in the building being partially affected. Firemen were handicapped in fighting the blaze by obnoxious burning celluloid films. The fire was confined to third floor rooms.

Principal estimated losses are: Smith studio, $10,000; Weber's clothing store, $10,000; Cline Optical Co., $5,000; Hughes and Newbauer Jewelers, $4,000; and the Dayton Building and Savings Association, $500.

PLAYGROUNDS POPULAR BELLEFONTAINE

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Aug. 12.—Bellefontaine's five municipal playgrounds are highly popular, according to a report made by Recreation Director C. A. Burnham. He reported that a total of 11,124 persons, ranging in age from one to fifty years, had used the grounds since they were opened this summer.

Pendleton was followed to Massachusetts by Roland K. Adams, assistant state's attorney who will try to prevent the stay. Justice Brandeis is at his summer home on Cape Cod.

COOPER MAJORITY 13,000

GOVERNOR DONAHEY GETS PLURALITY OF 140,000 TUESDAY

Democratic Race For State Secretary Still Close

COLUMBUS, Aug. 12.—Complete unofficial returns today from Tuesday's state primary gave Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, a majority of 13,000 for the Republican nomination for governor and Vic Donahey a majority of 140,000 for the Democratic nomination.

Returns were still incomplete for other state offices but in most instances only a negligible number were still to be heard from and there was virtually no possibility of the results being altered.

One of the few contests not definitely decided on the face of returns yesterday was the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State.

Stephen M. Young of Cleveland continued to lead but John H. Newman, of Columbus made steady inroads. Young's lead on the basis of returns today was approximately 4,000 votes.

The contest for the Republican nomination for state treasurer was still in doubt with Guy C. Davis of Findlay and Bert B. Buckley of Dayton in a close race. With more than 1,000 precincts to be heard from Buckley had a slight lead early today.

Davis held the advantage on the basis of returns late yesterday but his margin was so narrow the additional returns caused alterations.

The race for Democratic state treasurer was close late yesterday but additional returns increasing the lead of John W. Pattison to approximately a 35,000 majority, had apparently given him a safe lead.

W. Durbin gained on Charles B. Zimmerman over night and further results were expected to favor him. Zimmerman's lead had been cut to slightly more than 5,000 today. Both seek the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

WELL KNOWN M'COOK FIELD PILOT FALLS TO DEATH AT DAYTON

After risking his life for three years, daily testing new airplanes for the safety of other pilots at McCook Field, Lieut. E. H. Barksdale acting chief test pilot, was killed in the line of routine duty, Wednesday noon.

His death occurred when he attempted to make a landing in a parachute, after his plane, an experimental Douglas observation ship failed to right from a tail spin into which he had thrown it. He jumped on the inside of the spin and was struck by one of the wings as the revolving craft plunged straight downward. The ropes on Barksdale's parachute became entangled with the falling plane. About 500 feet above earth Barksdale's body was cut from the parachute and he was thrown to the ground and instantly killed. His body fell in Fieldston plat, west of Ridge Ave.

Barksdale was one of the most widely known aviators in the air service and was characterized by Col. William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the service, as the second best flyer in the U. S. army.

He served overseas where he was credited with bringing down seven German planes. He was wounded during an air battle and commissioned first lieutenant in the aviation corps in 1918. He went to McCook field April 14, 1923 from Mitchell Field, Long Island. During his connection with the Dayton field he had many daring air exploits to his credit, among them a record flight from Dayton to New York in four hours and three minutes.

More than a year ago he was piloting a plane at the old Wilbur Wright Field when the tail surfaces left his craft, catapulting him from it. He made one of the shortest parachute drops on record and his observer was killed. The parachute drop that caused his death was the third sensational drop made by him, while at Dayton. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura Barksdale, Grand Ave., Dayton.

TRUCK IS BACK

Truck No. one, Xenia Fire Department, hose and chemical truck, which has been in a Dayton repair shop a month, having a new motor installed and completely overhauled, was returned to the local department, Wednesday.

The truck, a large White model is now in first class condition.

OHIO NOT READY TO PUT WOMEN IN RESPONSIBLE POSITIONS

Women Candidates Turned Down at Polls Tuesday —Mrs. Snow Snowed Under—Miss Allen Defeated

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 12.—Ohio is not ready to place women in charge of its major executive and legislative functions.

This was demonstrated at Tuesday's primary election when voters refused to emulate Western and Southwestern states that have elected women to important positions.

Two women who sought places on their respective party tickets were defeated.

Justice Florence E. Allen, who was elected successively to the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas bench and to the Ohio Supreme Court, failed in her attempt to obtain the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. She was defeated by Atlee Pomerene, former Senator. Had she been nominated and elected, she would have been the first woman to have taken a seat in the Upper House of the National Assembly.

The other woman candidate, Mrs. Evalyn Frances Snow, of Mt. Vernon, fell far short of obtaining the necessary vote for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. She was far down the list of aspirants to the position. Mrs. Snow first became interested in politics when she served a more or less stormy term on the State Board of Motion Picture Censors, under former Governor Harry L. Davis.

Both women made active campaigns.

HAMILTON OPENS THEATER IN HOTEL

R. Hayes Hamilton, Xenia, who is connected with the Aspinwall Hotel, Lenox, Mass., a summer resort in the Berkshires, has installed and opened a theater in the hotel.

Mr. Hamilton was connected with the Saranac Inn in the Adirondacks ten years and this is his first summer in the Berkshires. The new theater, according to The Berkshire Gleaner, is arranged for showing movies for the entertainment of hotel guests and the hotel orchestra furnishes music.

Programs will be shown every Tuesday and Friday evenings during the season. Marcus McCallister and Thomas Hollencamp of this city, are also connected with the Aspinwall.

MUST MODIFY DEBT DEMANDS IS CLAIM YOUTH SHACKLED TO SHINING STAND

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The newspaper, El Paris, today printed an interview with Adrian Dariae, member of French finance subcommittee considering allied debts, declaring it "impossible to ratify the Mellon debt agreement unless it is modified."

"As representative of the nation, I hope to convince the American people that modifications are necessary. The agreement would not obtain 100 votes in the chamber at the present time," he said.

ARCHBISHOP MAY BE CALLED ON CHARGES OF VIOLATING LAWS

New Confiscation of Churches Adds Fuel To Situation

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12.—Archbishop Mora Del Rio, the aged leader of Catholicism in Mexico, may be summoned before the legal authorities on a charge of sedition in violating a clause of the new religious laws.

Secretary of the Interior Alberto Tejeda, has ordered the attorney general to examine a recent statement given by the archbishop to the New York World to determine whether the prelate's expressed sentiments violated the prohibition against members of the clergy criticizing officials of the government or the laws of Mexico. If the attorney general finds the utterances to have been seditious, the ordinary procedure would be to summon the archbishop for a preliminary hearing.

At the moment that the religious situation throughout the country was becoming more tranquil, the announced plan of the government to take over church properties held in the names of individuals as well as by churches themselves adds fuel to the controversy, according to Catholic leaders.

The project became known when the secretary of the Interior sent Attorney General Ortega plans by which the nation proposed to take over all clerical property on the ground that the clergy is not permitted to possess property.

The newspaper Graphicos states that 100 properties, with a value of $12,500,000 are already denounced.

CHICAGO BAD MEN NOT SO BAD SAY COWBOYS

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—The drugstore cowboys of Chicago's loop district, and some from the bordering territory, have been shooting things up in two-gun fashion this week and the bespurred cowboys from the plains country have been on-lookers.

Cowboys from Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico—and some few dozen Indians garbed in their picturesque blankets and other tribal habiliments—are here to take part in Chicago's wild-west rodeo, and the Chicago gunmen have been performing.

For the special amusement of the wildwesterners who, within a few days will be roping, busting and steer-dogging, Chicago's unsprung and docile looking drug store bad-men have put on the following shows:

- 1.—Three murders.
- 2.—One street battle on scenic Michigan Boulevard.
- 3.—One taxicab race through the outer sections of the city.
- 4.—A renewal of beer gang feuds.

E. D. Jackson, Gillette, Wyo., here for the Rodeo, witnessed the shooting of four on Michigan Boulevard.

"It was kinda tame," he exclaimed. "Them boys didn't seem to know much about shooting. They didn't hit any one."

And as an afterthought, "I haven't had so much fun since I left the west. Gee, I wish I had had my irons with me."

The report contained bitter condemnation of the all-American canal route across New York State proposed as an alternative route for the St. Lawrence project.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—In a report today to Governor Len Small, the Illinois deep water way commission charged New York City was chiefly responsible for opposition to the St. Lawrence Water Way project which would link lake ports with the Atlantic.

The report contained bitter condemnation of the all-American canal route across New York State proposed as an alternative route for the St. Lawrence project.

LOUISE SAYS HUBBY FORGOT TO RETURN

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 12.—Louise Fazenda, screen comedian, has been given a divorce from Noel M. Smith. Miss Fazenda told Judge Gales of the superior court that the last time her husband went out at night she tried to pursue him, but he left her behind because he drove a faster car. "He's never come back," she said. This was in August, 1923. No alimony was asked or allowed.

After his release the boy fled and a search failed to reveal his hiding place.

Mrs. Rosetti, police said, admitted she chained the child "to keep him from running away."

Even that failed to keep him fast, Mrs. Rosetti said, as he picked or broke several padlocks. When detectives removed the chain the boy wriggled from their grasp and scampered over a fence.

WORKS ON VACATION

ELYRIA, O., Aug. 12.—Patrolman Lee Johnson just can't keep away from his work. Johnson reports and patrols his beat, although he is on vacation. His second week of vacation was credited to him as special duty, for which he will receive extra pay.

Even that failed to keep him fast, Mrs. Rosetti said, as he picked or broke several padlocks. When detectives removed the chain the boy wriggled from their grasp and scampered over a fence.

FIFTH SHAFT REACHES FIVE IMPRISONED BY SUBTERRANEAN CAVE-IN

Men Taken From Mine Weak From Hunger and Exposure—Relatives and Friends Cheer As Rescue Effected

SALEM, Ky., Aug. 12.—(United Press)—Five miners trapped last Thursday in the mine of the American Flour-spar and Zinc Co., near here were rescued alive today.

The men were entombed when a drill they were operating six hundred feet from the mine entrance punctured a subterranean lake over their heads.

Five other miners who were in the shaft at the time escaped by fleeing before the rush of water and climbing timbers to safety.

Five hundred men have been working ceaselessly since last Thursday to rescue the men entrapped. Their efforts had been countered by ill-luck time and time again, but their long desperate fight was successful this morning.

Pumps used to keep the water clear became clogged with mud and stopped dead. Drills which were used to dig into the shaft where the five men waited, snapped, in the stubborn stone. Other misfortunes attended their efforts.

The five men who were alive to day after a week without food in their tomb were: Roy James, 30; Randolph Cobb, 32; Harry Watson, 26; George Catillo, 37, and U. B. Wilson, 44.

The men were rescued by Freeman Cobb, who crawled into the old shaft of the mine, through mud and slush and met his brother-in-law, Roy James, who had started to crawl out of the pocket.

These two men were brought out first. He then went back after Catillo, Wilson and Watson.

Rescuers saw the mine running through the debris to the place where the men were imprisoned by the fall of earth saved the five.

Only last night the squads working frantically to pierce the earth had given up hope that the five miners could still be alive. They believed those who had not died of suffocation or drowned in the running water probably had staved off death.

But the sinking of the new shaft went doggedly forward. It was the fifth attempt to sink a shaft.

Then at 8:15 this morning their long labors were rewarded. The new shaft finally merged with the main shaft. It was only a matter of a few moments to clear away the debris. Fighting an equally disadvantageous fight the five men in the tomb had worked for days to rescue themselves. They had weakly dug away the rock and timber had walled them in.

Rescuers made quick work of the barrier which remained.

"They're alive" came back the cry from the bottom of the shaft. Quickly it was taken up by relatives and relief workers who had watched ceaselessly at the mouth of the mine since the accident occurred a week ago. The crowds on the surface went into a frenzy of joy, crying, dancing and praying.

The men were in good condition, according to rescuers, but weak from lack of food and the chill air of the mine.

The five miners were stoical when they reached the surface and were greeted by relatives and friends. Only one of the five appeared to be suffering appreciably from the long imprisonment. He was George Catillo. He fell in a step-off in the mine Sunday night and wrenched his back. Despite his protests he was taken to a hospital.

A chill followed Catillo's injury in the mine and his four companions, forgetting their own discomforts, literally covered him with their bodies to ward off the bitter cold which they feared might end his life.

The clothing of the miners was black and soaked with the chilling water that dripped constantly from spar and stalagmite in the mine.

"I want my mules," was the first thought of Harry Watson as he emerged into the sunlight. "I gotta be getting on home."

Suffering from hunger and palatable drinking water the five men could hear the maddening sound of running water somewhere far below them. Tantalized by the sound they were forced to wait for the dripping of the stalagmites or suck moisture from the old water-soaked timbers supporting the scaffolding.

At last they were unable to endure their thirst any longer, the rotten water from the timbers failing to relieve their burning throats. Watson although stiff and chilled from the cramped position which the men were forced to keep, finally went in search of running water.

Just as he reached the bottom of the scaffolding, Watson saw the lights of the rescuers.

"Come on down, boys," he called to the others who had waited to determine the outcome of his adventure.

FROM THE AGE OF TRAILING SKIRTS CROQUET COMES BACK TO POPULARITY

Just a good American family of the Smacking the croquet ball on its colorful beak is one of the little pleasures being indulged in now.

It heralds the return of the ancient and honorable game of croquet, a boon to garden-party hostesses during the latter part of the nineteenth century and which seems to have passed out of existence about the time that automobiles began to appear with portable tanks on the running board. What is bringing the garden game back to popular favor, is questionable, but the fact remains that croquet set stock is approaching par in the best sporting goods houses and the click of the wooden balls is drowning out neighborhood arguments. One Xenia family has electrically lighted courts so that the game may be indulged in every evening.

Croquet was played in Southern France as early as the thirteenth century and introduced to England about 1850. Tennis deposed it there from the throne of popularity but it migrated to America where it became a favorite pastime just after the Civil War. Its popularity was in the ascendant then until about the opening of the twentieth century when it began to wane. Perhaps its present favor is an overflow from the golf mania.

Croquet is associated in memory with pompadour coiffeurs, straw sailor hats, puff sleeves, the hourglass shape the billowing skirt, the flowing mustachios and the derby hat. It thrived during a period when William Jennings Bryan periodically angled for the presidency and was a periodically defeated.

The automobile coming on the scene with a bright red dress right hand drive, a bulb horn, brass decorations and a rear door, found croquet firmly entrenched in the hearts of our countrymen. When people began to wear a boudoir cap, a linen duster and a veil to go out motoring, the croquet set began to be neglected.

By the time the movies began to exert their appeal and penny ice cream cones from push-carts made their appearance croquet had sunk. The tango, sheathe gowns, the kewpie doll, prohibition and the world war passed into discard and croquet remained dormant. Now, in an age of flappers, jokes about walking home, knee-length skirts, synthetic flasks and wise-cracks, it comes back.

The new American tendency is to make the courts large in size and to play with a certain viciousness which makes the swatting of an opponent's ball out of the lot, something to be very much desired.

When croquet reached its peak of popularity, there was some difficulty experienced by women players because their skirts persisted in sweeping the ball out of position.

No apprehension is felt now from this source, although balloon trousers are being investigated as a serious menace and will be ruled off the courts in case they are found to permit of development of the "hidden ball" trick.

WEAD-SCHUREMAN WEDDING WEDNESDAY

A bower of ferns and palms, combined with delphinium and gypsophylla, arranged on the side lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wead, Woodland Ave., marked the place where Miss Margaret Wead, secretary of the Greene County Red Cross Chapter, plighted her troth to Mr. David S. Schureman, Cleveland, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The perfect Summer evening, with the first shades of twilight beginning to fall, was in ideal harmony with the rainbow color scheme of the outdoor wedding. One hundred guests were grouped about the lawn to witness the ceremony.

A white muslin pathway marked the course of the bridal party from the Wead home, leading to the improvised bower. Tall standards of blue delphinium and gypsophylla lined the pathway.

The bride party was led by the dainty flower girls, Margaret Jane Wead, wore a frock of white organdie, with a hat of the same material, applied in rainbow tints and carrying a basket of flower petals. She walked with Jane Underwood, niece of the bridegroom, from Columbus, who was dressed in similar fashion.

The maid of honor came next, Miss Dorothy Hester, Columbus, cousin of the bride. She wore flowered voile and carried an arm bouquet of Pernet roses. The bride's maids, came next, Miss Nellie Weaver, wearing yellow organdie, Miss Frances Wead, sister of the bride, blue organdie, and Miss Eleanor DeVine, Columbus, lavender in the same material. Their bouquets were of delphinium and pink roses, arranged in an arm spray with a shower.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her girlish attractiveness was enhanced in her gown of pink organdie with touches of lavender. Her hat was also of pink satin. Her footwear was of pink satin. Her shoulder-bouquet was of orchids, valley lilies, Angelus roses, with a mauve-orchid shower.

The bridegroom, with his best man, Mr. Clara Underwood, brother-in-law of the groom, from Columbus, and the officiating clergyman, the Rev. T. C. Nybladh awaited the bride party at the altar. The single ring ceremony marked the Rev. Mr. Nybladh's first wedding since coming to Xenia. He is acting rector of Christ Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Eugene Wead played the wedding march from Lohengrin, and "I Love You Truly" during the ceremony. After the reception and felicitation, refreshments were served indoors. Appointments of the decorations and ice-course carried out the rainbow idea. Covers were laid for ten at the bride's table. Streamers of various pastel shades led to each woman's place, where orchid corsages were found.

Mr. and Mrs. Schureman left Wednesday night for Cleveland. Mrs. Schureman wore away a suit of white flannel with white hat and shoes. She will return to Xenia in two weeks to continue her work with the Red Cross and will continue in her office until the close of the Roll Call drive.

Mrs. Schureman has been Red Cross secretary almost a year. She graduated from Central High School in 1917 and immediately took a position in the offices of the city school superintendent and later as clerk of the board of education.

Mr. Schureman is connected with a firm of architects in Cleveland. He is the son of Mrs. D. S. Schureman, Sr., Delaware, Ohio, who attended the wedding with a number of out-of-town guests.

EASTERN TIME HERE MAY BE FORCED BY CINCINNATI VOTE

Extension of the Eastern Standard time zone boundaries to include practically the entire state of Ohio is practically assured as a result of action of Cincinnati voters in favor of adoption of the advanced time standard at the primary Tuesday.

This victory provides for one hour more of daylight the year around in the Queen City and vitally affects Xenia as well as all cities between Cincinnati and Columbus.

The victory for Eastern time is to be followed immediately by a petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission to extend the fast time boundaries to include practically all of Ohio.

The petition is to be filed by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce which has enlisted the support of communities in western Ohio representing a population of more than 1,600,000. The aid of the railroads has also been enlisted toward this end.

Other cities are expected to pass ordinances concurring in the time change.

Xenia is now faced with the problem of adoption of Eastern time permanently. Cincinnati's vote on the question places Xenia and many other cities in a position where a like change is almost imperative.

Sentiment locally has been in favor of Daylight Saving time, now in force six months in the year here and there is also strong sentiment in favor of following Cincinnati's lead.

What action will be taken on the topic in this city has not been announced.

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, The Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

This Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Sayre's Drug Store and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

A Cow On Fifth Avenue Would Be a Curiosity

A "sale" would be as much out of place in our modern methods of merchandising and storekeeping as would a cow on Fifth Avenue in New York.

A cow on Fifth Avenue would attract a lot of curiosity but it would not provide much satisfaction to those who happened along at the time.

Where merchandising and selling methods are right, prices are as low all the time as they can possibly be made.

We prefer to give you the lowest possible prices every day instead of at intervals at so-called "sales."

You want your dollar to buy at least a hundred cents' worth all the time rather than part of the time.

We do not hold "sales." We do not change our prices from day to day. We neither "reduce" nor "raise" prices except in instances where market conditions compel us to do so. We sell for cash at low prices alike to all buyers.

You can always do as well here as your neighbor—no better!

IT BOOSTS BUSINESS

Predictions of a business debacle of serious proportions if the practice of mortgaging future earnings grows are countered by plausible arguments in support of the installment plan advanced by representatives of those businesses which owe their prosperity to the plan.

Tropenents of the pay-as-you-use system point out that any great curtailment of the practice would have disastrous consequences, as the consumption of many products would be reduced to a fraction of what it has grown to under the deferred payment plan. It is undisputed that a large part of the population is thrifty enough to meet installments but can not put as systematically away equal amounts in anticipation of paying cash.

This inevitable curtailment of output would result in higher prices, for quantity production has lowered prices, and in the closing of factories and discharging of thousands of workers. There is no disputing the fact that the pay-out-of-income system has multiplied many times over the demand for the more costly articles such as automobiles, pianos, phonographs, radios, good furniture, jewelry, books, clothing and investment securities.

The system is sound so long as it is not overworked. And as long as those who supply the credit do not lose money the system is not overworked. If the system were economically wrong it seems the post-war business depression would have exposed its weakness. It weathered that trying period, and there seems little danger that it will meet stormier days in the near future.

COOLIDGE AND HIS VACATION

Many Americans, advocates of the strenuous life, are concerned about the mild-mannered Coolidge because he does not enter into more active recreations. They recall that other presidents, Taft and Harding, for instance, were devotees of the gold links, that Roosevelt liked to ride horseback, and to walk, more exhilarating than walking or fishing. In fact until this season he has not done anything outside his regular routine, except pitch hay one year on his father's farm.

This leads to a study of the characteristics of men. President Taft and President Harding were each of them jolly, active and predisposed to ebullience. In spite of their happy disposition, work seemed to hang heavily on their shoulders and the making of momentous decisions left noticeable lines in their faces. Not so with President Coolidge. He is phlegmatic to a marked degree. His mental operations seem to be carried on entirely independently of his physical status. Therefore his executive duties do not seem to produce that fatigue of body which usually results under similar onerous responsibilities in other persons.

Many sedentary workers are like him. It is either a constitutional characteristic or a result of early training. Such persons do not need, neither could they endure the strenuous out-door exercise others seem to demand. So worrying over President Coolidge's failure to indulge in more strenuous exercise as a means of keeping himself fit is entirely useless and unnecessary. He'll get along better following his own bent.

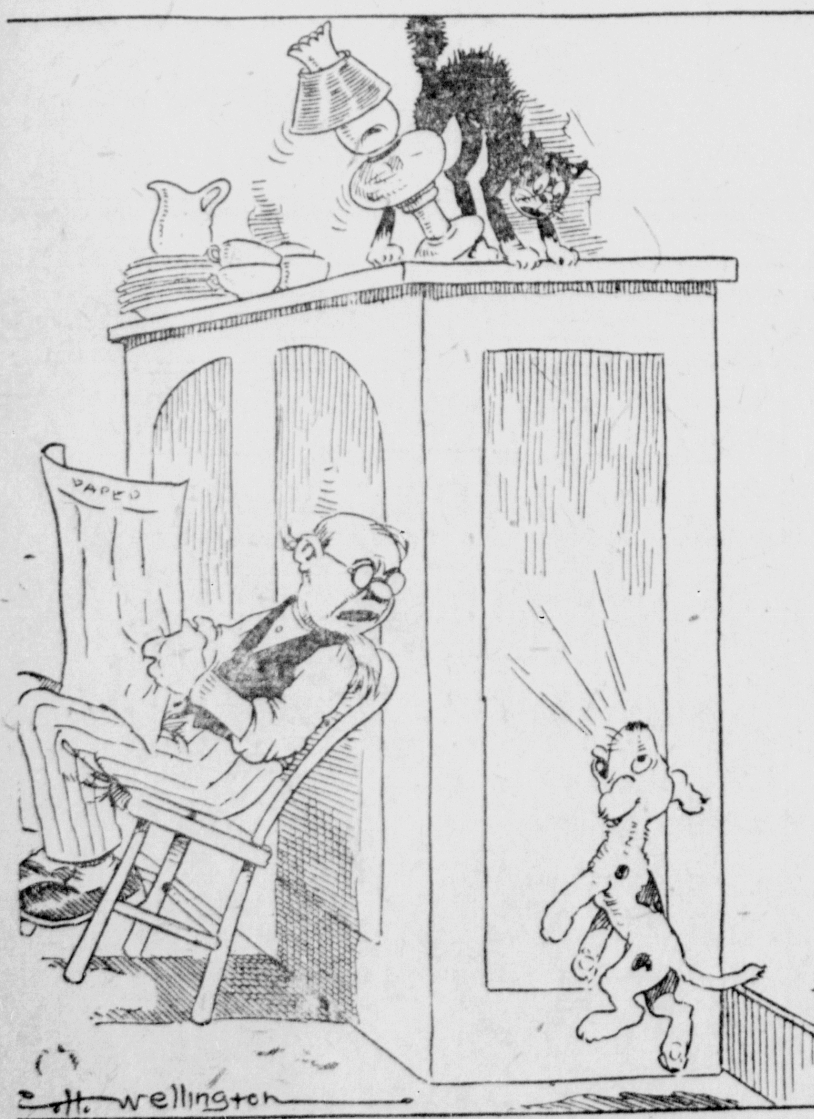

DON'T WORRY, MOTHER

Mothers who fret over the stenoities of misbehaving children should fret no longer, but let the worrying be done by parents of the "teachers' pet."

A child psychologist declares that the qualities that make a young boy a roughneck are the very qualities that make for success in adult life, and that the quiet and retiring children, great favorites of teachers and proud mothers, are in a fair way of becoming social and industrial failures because of the lack of what might be called pugnacity.

This possibly explains why the nice little boys and girls, beloved by teacher and invariably at the head of the class, so often fail to realize the glittering future predicted for them, while the obnoxious, obstreperous, incorrigible goes out grabs the world by the neck and lays up a fat fortune.

One of the best fires Greene County has ever had came to a close.

Fire destroyed the two-story frame residence occupied by Frank Newland, railroad fireman.

Nowell is held in the Clark County Jail on suspicion. He is suspected of being the pyromaniac responsible for a number of fires in Springfield and on farms in outlying districts in recent months.

He is said to have escaped from the Alabama state prison after completing twelve years of a twenty-two year sentence under the name of Mack Wooten. Authorities say he was sentenced to prison in 1910 and escaped in 1922 from the Bagdad prison camp.

County authorities and a state fire marshal are joining in an investigation to identify Nowell with the man who set fire twice to a farm in Clark County last Sunday. The identification is not complete.

INFANTS' BOOTIES

Reader Friends have requested me to publish the following directions; for crocheted and knitted booties:

Infants' Knitted Booties: One ball each of white and colored three-fold Saxony. A pair of number three bone needles. Top: With the white yarn cast on five stitches. Increase one st. at each end every row till there are fifty-one sts. on needle. Knit plain for twenty-six rows. Change to color and knit five rows plain. With white purl across. Next row knit one stitch. Purl one stitch. Next row knit plain. Repeat these last two rows once more, then knit one row. With color, knit four rows, decreasing one st. at each end till forty-eight stitches remain. White yarn, knit two, purl two, for twelve rows. Knit the first eighteen stitches.

Instep. Row One: Purl one st, knit one st., on next twelve sts. Row Two: Turn, knit plain. Repeat these two rows for twenty-two rows.

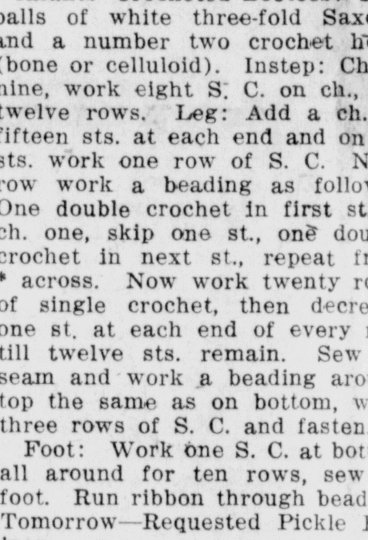

Foot: Pick up eleven sts. on one side of instep, and knit the eighteen sts. on needle; turn, knit back, pick up eleven sts. on other side of instep and knit the remaining eighteen sts. On all sts, knit eight rows plain. With color, knit four rows, decreasing one st. at each end every fourth row. With white, knit eight rows, still decreasing every fourth row; bind off, taking off the four center sts. at one time to round toe. With color, and right side, pick up fifty-four sts. at top and knit four rows, white four rows. Next row work beading as follows: * knit three yarn over, knit two together, repeat from * across. Knit four rows plain. Color, knit three rows, bind off. Sew up foot and back seam.

Infants' Crocheted Booties: Two balls of white three-fold Saxony and a number two crochet hook (bone or celluloid). Instep: Chain nine, work eight S. C. on ch., for twelve rows. Leg: Add a ch. of fifteen sts. at each end and on all sts. work one row of S. C. Next row work a beading as follows: One double crochet in first st., * ch. one, skip one st., one double crochet in next st., repeat from * across. Now work twenty rows of single crochet, then decrease one st. at each end of every row till twelve sts. remain. Sew up seam and work a beading around top the same as on bottom, work three rows of S. C. and fasten.

Foot: Work one S. C. at bottom all around for ten rows, sew up foot. Run ribbon through beading. Tomorrow—Requested Pickle Recipes.

MAN ARRESTED HERE

WILL BE RETURNED

TO ALABAMA PRISON

Fred Nowell, alias Henry Nauss, alias Mack Wooten, captured by Xenia police Tuesday afternoon, will probably be returned to Alabama to serve the remainder of his twenty-two year sentence for grand larceny in the state prison unless more convincing evidence is brought to light linking him with attempts at incendiarism in Clark County, it is announced.

The Theatre

Upon his return to Hollywood after a prolonged Eastern trip, Jack Pickford confirmed the rumors of the separation between him and his wife, Marilyn Miller, musical comedy star. But no one was greatly surprised because Mary's little brother has been living in California and Marilyn working in "Sunny" in New York for several months.

It's a "friendly separation" of course—but another case where two persons of the same temperaments and ambitions can't agree. And they say Marilyn has been seeing a great deal of Ben Lyon. They are regular patrons of the Broadway night clubs.

Ben has been getting his name in the newspapers as the most expensive member of the Actors' Equity. It seems Ben owes the Equity $500 in dues and while less fortunate members of the profession pay up regularly and gladly, Ben drew the line at coughing up for his obligations. All of which doesn't do him a bit of good for Ben makes a big salary and should know better.

SIDELIGHTS

ON
Greene County History

LAND TROUBLES

Many of the first settlers of the county experienced endless difficulty in getting the titles to their lands straightened out, the difficulty arising from the fact that a certain unnamed and unprincipled Kentuckian sold so many fraudulent tax-rights to unsuspecting settlers.

This made it necessary for some of the settlers to pay for their land a second time, rather than lose it entirely together with all the improvements they had placed on it.

Records of the commissioners bear ample witness to this type of trickery and there were many land grafters in the early days of the county's history.

Most of the land in Greene County was bought for, from $2.50 to $10 an acre.

When a settler was unable to make his payments he frequently was forced to lose everything he had invested, together with whatever improvements he had made.

ABBREVIATED MASK BALL COSTUMES ARE DISCUSSION CAUSE

LONDON, Aug. 12—London society is still gasping over the variety of costumes—some allegedly greatly abbreviated—worn by some of the guests who attended the mask dance given by the Duchess of Sutherland at Hampden House. Prominent among those in attendance were the King and Queen of Spain, who did not appear in mask dress, and the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince Henry, both of whom appeared in shell's dress.

Everybody was there and "everybody" in England means all who count for anything in official blue books.

The greatest sensation of the evening was caused when eight of the most beautiful women in the United Kingdom appeared as a rowing crew from Eaton. The crew had a coxswain, Alfred Duff Cooper, husband of Lady Diana Manners. He shouted orders to his crew as they rowed their cardboard boat across the ballroom floor. They afterwards fell exhausted into the depths of the craft.

The crew consisted of Lady Victor Paget, Lady Brecknock, Lady Ednam, Lady Loughborough, Mrs. Richard Norton, Mrs. Dudley Ward, Mrs. Lionel Tennyson and Miss Poppy Baring.

CHILD BRUISED BY AUTO WEDNESDAY

Mary Elizabeth Espey, three-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul D. Espey, 122 N. Detroit St., was bruised but not badly hurt when she stepped into the path of an automobile driven by J. C. Ankeny, 11½ W. Market St., as she was crossing to the east side of N. Detroit St., to see her grandfather early Wednesday afternoon.

Ankeny exerted a supreme effort to avoid an accident skidding the car a great distance but the fender brushed the child to one side, according to Motorcycle Policemen Peter Shagin who witnessed the accident.

The accident happened in front of Eskey Hospital. The child apparently failed to see the approaching machine as she walked across the street.

POLLY GETS ALL THE ATTENTION

By Jay V. Jay

The charming young woman in the crepe frock with the oddly shaped applique trimming is, hospitably, about to offer Polly another glass of spiced lemonade. The Goofy, too, is suddenly attentive.

Polly wonders why she is getting all the service—as though Polly didn't look pretty enough in her shirred frock with the ridiculous little jacket to match to make anyone want to be nice to her.

The lady with the very new and fashionable moire hat is about to engage Polly in conversation, and the hostess, who wears a gown of periwinkle blue, thinks that another glass of lemonade would satisfy.

As a matter of fact it isn't Polly's virtues—it's Mitzi's sins. Mitzi has found such an attractive man and Mitzi is admiring him so whole-heartedly that no one has the cruelty to interfere.

Tomorrow—The New Frocks Have Interesting Backs.

For the third time Carlyle Blackwell, "the handsomest man in the movies" enters matrimony. His bride is the only daughter of the late Barney Barnato, South American diamond king. The "Diamond Princess" is one of the richest women in the world. They were married last week at London registry.

In glancing over the names of the chorus girls and other participants in "George White's Scandals" which recently appeared in Dayton, we notice both actors and actresses have departed from the fancy monikers that used to win them fame and fortune. Now the girls have such homely names as Nora Haynes, Maud Harris, Anita Bowles, Lucile Klink, Claire Lambert, Gertrude Lindie, Louise Robinson, etc. The men too have discarded the Algonquin, and strange name combinations for others more simple—probably their own.

—OF—
New York

By Jack O'Donnell

Don Marquis, poet, philosopher, wit and, most important of all, regular person, was recently referred to by a prominent fiction writer as having "the finest mind in New York." It is beginning to dawn on a few of the self-elected "intelligentsia" that Don is one of America's first poets and a great thinker. As a wit he is famous for classic "lines." His most recent "line" was spoken at a certain club. Don was trying to stir up a Kelly pool game. Three men declined. They said they had work to do. Don grew peevish about it.

"That isn't any excuse," he declared. "I've got work to do, but I refuse to let my will power master me."

There is a Miss Marquis, aged six. She has apparently inherited some of the genius of her father and she is evidently one of the rebellious flappers of the younger generation. Recently she decided she'd had plenty of schooling. She was informed that she must go to school.

"All right," she said. "I'll go if I have to, but I don't want to. And I'll get even. If we have subtraction I'm gonna add."

"Front" is worshipped in New York. There is a certain famous editor who always makes it a point to be late at such affairs as banquets, first nights and so on. He wants to make certain that every person present shall know that he, too, is there. At a recent important banquet he arrived twenty minutes late. He shook hands with the toastmaster and apologized profusely while the crowd took him in. Then he turned, shook hands and talked earnestly with an important looking individual standing hard by the toastmaster.

"We will go on with the dinner," the toastmaster's eyes a twinkling informed the other diners, "as soon as Mr. Whoosis has finished his talk on world politics with the head waiter."

In the swarming Italian section fringing on Greenwich Village, where a thousand folk live within the compass of a city block, Village life takes on an unexpected intimacy and kindness despite the urban influences of subways and tabloid papers.

Here and there among the tenements are charming little studios where young village couples find it not only possible but quite attractive to live at about a third of the cost of a more fashionable uptown establishment. One of these housewives, newly arrived in the neighborhood, went a-marketing at the chain grocery on the corner. The store manager, true to type, was as Irish as Tammany Hall. The young bride was formerly a Brady.

"And how much are the eggs?" she inquired breezily.

"Sure, ma'am, the white ones are seven-nine cents and the brown ones are sixty-nine," replied the storekeeper. "Ye'd best take the white ones, for they're the best."

"Go long, now," said she of the market basket. "I'm on to your gags. Sure, I know all the eggs came from the same crate and you separated the white ones from the brown to get a fancier price. I'll take a dozen of the brown eggs, if you please."

The grocer was hugely amused and a shopping acquaintance was begun, the tradesman having a healthy respect for this kindred spirit. Not many days later the housewife came to the store to purchase groceries and presented in payment a twenty dollar bill. The store manager was a bit stumped.

"Sure, now, Miss, that's more money than I have in the store," he told her. "But I tell you what. You take this, (he handed her a five dollar bill from the till) and go along and do the rest of your shopping. You can pay me back next time you come to the store."

No, New York is not too large for kindness and humanity, the same brand you'll find in every home community in the country.

Today's Talk

THE FRIENDLY HOTEL

I stopped at a hotel the other day that I was sorry to leave. From the time I stepped into it until I left, there was the most gracious, and considerate attitude on the part of everyone from the bell boys to the manager.

I thought of the many hotels I had visited that I was glad to leave. Places where you felt that you were tolerated and that was all.

A hotel should always be a home. The stranger is usually far from home and may know no one in that town. To feel that he is wanted in that town as a visitor makes him want to stay and get acquainted—and when he goes he likes to tell the folks at home about the place.

No matter how favored we may be in this world, we all get lonely. And the loneliest place in the world is a hotel where you feel that you are alone.

But when the manager greets you and wishes you a happy stay and success in whatever you attempt in that town, you go to your task with greatly increased heart.

A hotel is first of all a servant and when it departs from that opportunity, it's just a trading place—room and bath so much, meals so much.

Service should be foremost. Mr. Statler, who has built so many great hotels, instructs his helpers to remember the guest—that he is always right. Most hotels take the attitude that the guest is always wrong and that he has rights, but they cost money.

In a hotel the guest may be wrong, but he should be made to feel that he is right.

The friendly hotel is its own best advertisement. It never need feel that he is right.

The charming young woman in the crepe frock with the oddly shaped applique trimming is, hospitably, about to offer Polly another glass of spiced lemonade. The Goofy, too, is suddenly attentive.

Polly wonders why she is getting all the service—as though Polly didn't look pretty enough in her shirred frock with the ridiculous little jacket to match to make anyone want to be nice to her.

The lady with the very new and fashionable moire hat is about to engage Polly in conversation, and the hostess, who wears a gown of periwinkle blue, thinks that another glass of lemonade would satisfy.

As a matter of fact it isn't Polly's virtues—it's Mitzi's sins. Mitzi has found such an attractive man and Mitzi is admiring him so whole-heartedly that no one has the cruelty to interfere.

For the third time Carlyle Blackwell, "the handsomest man in the movies" enters matrimony. His bride is the only daughter of the late Barney Barnato, South American diamond king. The "Diamond Princess" is one of the richest women in the world. They were married last week at London registry.

In glancing over the names of the chorus girls and other participants in "George White's Scandals" which recently appeared in Dayton, we notice both actors and actresses have departed from the fancy monikers that used to win them fame and fortune. Now the girls have such homely names as Nora Haynes, Maud Harris, Anita Bowles, Lucile Klink, Claire Lambert, Gertrude Lindie, Louise Robinson, etc. The men too have discarded the Algonquin, and strange name combinations for others more simple—probably their own.

Ben has been getting his name in the newspapers as the most expensive member of the Actors' Equity. It seems Ben owes the Equity $500 in dues and while less fortunate members of the profession pay up regularly and gladly, Ben drew the line at coughing up for his obligations. All of which doesn't do him a bit of good for Ben makes a big salary and should know better.

Another bit of gossip concerning one of the parties of an estranged marriage is that concerning Mary Hay, Dick Barthelme's wife and John Gilbert. John has been paying court to Mary who left Dick out on the West Coast to dance on Broadway. Gilbert is evidently trying to get over his crushed spirit when Leatrice Joy separated

Margaret Craig, an actress was killed while struggling with Betty Queen, above, for possession of a shotgun at Browns Mills, N. J.

The accident happened in front of Eskey Hospital. The child apparently failed to see the approaching machine as she walked across the street.

XENIA GOLFERS AVENGE LOSS BY DEFEATING MIDDLETOWN HERE

Playing in improved form over the sunbaked fairways and billiard table greens, thirty-two golfers composing the match team of the Xenia Country Club gained revenge for a previous defeat earlier in the season, by trouncing the Middletown Country Club 59 to 40, Nassau count, in a return inter-city match over the local nine-hole course Wednesday afternoon.

INDIAN MATE SOON REVERTED TO TYPE HIS WIFE REVEALS

(This is the second of five articles written for the United Press by Betty Kurlow, former University of Chicago student, who is the wife of a minor Indian potentate, Abani Kumar Bose of Barod, East Bengal India. After going through many experiences in Calcutta and in Abani's jungle harem, she escaped and came to Chicago, where she obtained a divorce. In her first article, Miss Kurlow told of Abani's whirlwind courtship while both were university students, of their marriage in Chicago and of the fury of Abani's family when they learned he had married an "unclean one.")

BY BETTY KURLOW
Written for United Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Abani began to talk about going to India, to his home in Barod. He said he wanted to take me to his family so they could see he had not married beneath himself. I reminded him of his promise to stay in America.

He replied sullenly that he only wanted to visit India and would bring me back to Chicago in a few weeks, just as soon as he had proven to his family that I was worthy of being his wife.

I finally consented to go for a short visit. We sailed for Calcutta in January, 1918, from New York. On the voyage across the Atlantic and through the Mediterranean, my husband was the same wonderful man that he had always been—broadminded, calm and clear-headed, except that he seemed to brood on the way his mother and brothers had accepted the announcement of our marriage.

Calcutta was my first glimpse of a world entirely different from what I had been accustomed to. Rioting was then being carried on against British rule. English soldiers patrolled the dirty streets, the few white people were hissed and spit at by the natives as they passed through the city.

It was then too, I learned Abani was an ardent follower of Mahatma Gandhi, nationalist leader, whose slogan was "India for Indians." My husband, the nobleman who had spent years in the United States learning American ways was an anti-white agitator! I was bewildered. And he had seemed to change subtly as soon as he had landed in India. He took less notice of me, being intent, seemingly on only one thing—the forcing of my acceptance by his family, which was then staying in Calcutta.

Abani soon lost his American mannerisms completely. He reverted back to an Indian. He was silent, morose and quarrelsome. His family however, accepted me into their home.

The Indians, however, are a people of moods. One day they would treat me as an equal and the next I would be nothing more than a servant. I wore the long flowing robes of the Indian women and the veil she is forced to keep over her face, when men are present. In every way I tried to please my husband's relatives.

And I would have succeeded had it not been for their Brahmin priest. The priest's only duty was performing a religious ceremony night and morning for the Bose family. When I arrived he refused to continue the services. He vowed that I was unclean, untouchable and even threatened to outcast the Bose family from the church—all on account of me.

Of course the rulers of Barod were angry, both at me and at the priest. Abani finally decided to have his brother take me to the family castle in Barod while the hire of another priest was negotiated. Then too, Abani said he wanted me to meet his mother who was staying at the Palace in the wilds of East Bengal.

And that awful palace—I can smile about it now—but when I was forced to stay in it for months I thought seriously of committing suicide.

MT. TABOR

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Toms and daughter, Lura, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Ketter, of near Xenia.

Harvey Kyle and family, of Bridgeport, and Virgil Dinwiddie, of Xenia, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Hollingsworth and family.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fawcett, of New Jasper is spending the week with her son, Fred Fawcett.

Leonard Glass, of near Cedarville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Benton Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Levalley and son, Earl, of Maysville, Oklahoma, have returned home after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. S. B. LeValley.

S. S. Classes Meet
The regular monthly meeting of the Loyal Sons' and Daughters' Sunday School classes was held at the home of Ray Griffith Tuesday evening, with a good attendance.

About sixty were present, including members and visitors. After the usual business meeting a social time was spent. Refreshments of sandwiches, ice cream and cake were served, late in the evening. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kyle.

At the Church—Sunday School, Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Riley Jones, Supt.

held at the club.
G. Sebald, Middletown golfer, turned in the low card of the match for the two rounds, shooting a seventy-four, six above par. Sebald shot both rounds in thirty-seven, three over par for the course.

Play of Robert Currie was outstanding for Xenia. Currie had a mediocre forty-one his first round but settled down to his natural game on the second tip and handed in a card of thirty-six, two above par, for seventy-seven, his eighteen holes.

This inter-city match victory brought the local record for the season to three victories against but one defeat. Xenia will visit the Washington C. H. Country Club for a second match August 18.

The visiting Middletown golfers and the Xenia team enjoyed dinner at the club house following the match.

SECOND BASEBALL GAME ON THURSDAY

Second of the three-game series of soft ball games between the rival clubs will feature the first annual combined Rotary-Kiwanis Clubs picnic Thursday evening. The contest will be played at Cox Memorial Athletic Field and play will be called at 5 o'clock after which the organizations will spread a picnic luncheon on the lawn near the new Masonic Temple in the Dadds Addition.

Kiwanis won the first of the series two weeks ago in a slugfest, 11 to 10. Both clubs have strengthened their lineups considerably it is announced, and Rotary is confident of evening the series to make a third game necessary. The Junior Business Men's Club has challenged the winner of the series.

ADMIT JUDGMENT IN LOCAL COURTS

In the case of J. A. Harper against Nina M. Price and others in Common Pleas Court, the defendants, Nina M. Price and Victor L. McCall have confessed judgment on an obligation for $2,652.

SUES ON NOTE

Alleging $2,671.69 is due on two promissory notes, Joseph W. Dice has brought suit against Adelaide Skinner in Common Pleas Court.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE WILL ORGANIZE AT MEETING FRIDAY

Re-organization of the newly elected Greene County Republican Central Committee will take place at a meeting in the assembly room, of the Court House, Friday night, at 7 o'clock.

Chief business to come to the attention of the twenty-four committeemen, elected at the Tuesday primary, will be the election of an Executive Committee, which, in turn, will select a committee chairman.

Indications Thursday pointed to a shift in the control of Republican party politics in Greene County from the Marshall-Gowdy faction to the new Wead faction, resulting from a reduction in the Marshall factional representatives on the Central Committee.

As there are but twenty-four members of the Central Committee, thirteen or more members, hostile to the Marshall policies, would mean the termination of his party control.

Sentiment for the selection of County Auditor R. O. Wead as chairman of the new executive committee was freely expressed.

F. L. Johnson is attorney for the plaintiff.

CLAIMS ERROR

Jack Price, convicted in Probate Court on a charge of illegal possession of liquor and fined $500 and costs, has named the state of Ohio defendant in a petition in error filed in Common Pleas Court. Plaintiff, through Attorney F. L. Johnson, seeks the setting aside of the judgment, claiming error in his conviction.

BOWLING LEAGUE WILL RE-ORGANIZE

Re-organization of the Xenia Bowling League will be effected at a meeting of local bowling enthusiasts at the Arcade Billiard Parlor, S. Detroit St., Friday night, August 13, at 8 o'clock, it is announced.

If present plans are carried out, the league will be composed of ten teams this fall instead of the eight clubs which have comprised the loop in the past two years.

It is also the present intention to draw up a schedule and have the league open early in September, probably the second or third week.

All mineralite artists interested in the league's organization are invited to attend the Friday meeting.

TRAPPED MINERS RESCUED ALIVE

OIL COMPANY PLANT DESTROYED WHEN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Damage Estimated at $250,000 Caused By Fire—Frequent Explosions Hamper Toledo Firemen

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 12.—Ignited by a bolt of lightning during the night, part of the plant of the Monarch Oil Company was practically destroyed by fire today. Firemen turned their attention to nearby homes and other buildings. Officials of the Monarch company estimate the damage at $250,000. The lightning struck the roof over the boiler room which maintains steam for heating the storage tanks in the building. Frequent explosions of the tanks added fresh oil to the fire and increased the difficulty of the fire department. The north wall of the building collapsed during the morning but no one was injured.

AMERICA RIDING ON PROSPERITY WAVE; 1926 PROVES PROMISING

Agriculture Crops Improve In Last Month—Auto Factories Enjoying Boom Is Government Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—America is still riding on a wave of prosperity with indications that 1926 will be the greatest year in history with the exception of the war boom periods. The federal reserve announced today that industrial production in the first six months of the year was larger than in any previous corresponding period.

Agriculture crops, with the exception of corn, oats and hay, have improved in the last month because of favorable weather indicating farmers will come in for a small share of the prosperity. Building construction for the first six months is ahead of the same period for 1925. Automobile producers are turning out machines in record numbers.

"The large volume of activity in trade has reflected a sustained demand for goods both from urban and the rural population," the Reserve Board stated. "The demand for commodities by domestic consumers has been accompanied by a continued large volume of exports."

"Active business in recent months has been accompanied by relatively stable level of prices." Evidence that small merchants were enjoying good times was shown in reports that only 1,708 commercial firms failed in June—much below the total for the previous month.

AMERICANS LOSE BY DOPED CIGARETTES

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Tourists from the American boats arriving at Cherbourg and Havre and taking the train for Paris have reported in the last month that a gang of confidence men have been reaping a big harvest by means of doped cigarettes handed to the victim by a benevolent looking man casually met with in the station or on the train.

The crook usually waits until he spots a man travelling alone, strikes up a conversation and offers the doped cigarette. If the newcomer is over for the first time it is easy to talk to him about what he should see in the gay capital. If he accepts the smoke conversation becomes hazy, the tourist gets dizzy and gradually his senses leave him. When he is awakened at Paris—boat trains come through without a stop—he is without his roll and often without his passport.

TWO KILLED WHEN TRACTION HITS CAR

DAYTON, O., Aug. 12.—The Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Hutchison, colored, South Euclid Ave., were instantly killed when their automobile was struck by a fast Dayton and Western Interurban car at the Crown Point grade crossing, on the Dayton and Richmond Road, Wednesday afternoon.

The automobile was struck squarely as the driver attempted to cross the track ahead of the locomotive. Bodies of the occupants were hurled some distance from the automobile wreckage.

The accident happened near Crown Point Church where the Rev. Mr. Hutchison was enroute to conduct services.

WHITTEMORE WILL HANG AT MIDNIGHT

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 12.—Richard Reese Whittemore, convicted murderer and leader of a band of jewel thieves, is to be hanged here at midnight.

A final desperate effort to save him is being made by his attorney, G. F. Pendleton, negro, who made a night dash into New England to appeal to Justice Louis D. Brandeis, of the United States Supreme Court, to stay the execution.

Pendleton was followed to Massachusetts by Roland K. Adams, assistant state's attorney who will try to prevent the stay. Justice Brandeis is at his summer home on Cape Cod.

$30,000 FIRE IN DOWNTOWN DAYTON

DAYTON, O., Aug. 12.—Fire which started in the Smith Photographic Studio on the third floor of the Dayton Building and Savings Building, E. Fourth St., at 10 o'clock, Wednesday night, caused damage estimated at $30,000.

Most of the loss was caused by smoke and water, ground floor stores in the building being partially affected. Firemen were handicapped in fighting the blaze by obnoxious burning celluloid films. The fire was confined to third floor rooms.

Principal estimated losses are: Smith studio, $10,000; Weber's clothing store, $10,000; Cline Optical Co., $5,000; Hughes and Newbauer jewelers, $4,000; and the Dayton Building and Savings Association, $500.

PLAYGROUNDS POPULAR BELLEFONTAINE, O., Aug. 12.—Bellefontaine's five municipal playgrounds are highly popular, according to a report made by Recreation Director C. A. Burnham. COOPER MAJORITY 13,000

GOVERNOR DONAHEY GETS PLURALITY OF 140,000 TUESDAY

Democratic Race For State Secretary Still Close

COLUMBUS, Aug. 12.—Complete unofficial returns today from Tuesday's state primary gave Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, a majority of 13,000 for the Republican nomination for governor and Vic Donahey a majority of 140,000 for the Democratic nomination.

Returns were still incomplete for other state offices but in most instances only a negligible number were still to be heard from and there was virtually no possibility of the results being altered.

One of the few contests not definitely decided on the face of returns yesterday was the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State.

Stephen M. Young of Cleveland continued to lead but John H. Newman, of Columbus made steady inroads. Young's lead on the basis of returns today was approximately 4,000 votes.

The contest for the Republican nomination for state treasurer was still in doubt with Guy C. Davis of Findlay and Bert B. Buckley of Dayton in a close race. With more than 1,000 precincts to be heard from Buckley had a slight lead early today.

Davis held the advantage on the basis of returns late yesterday but his margin was so narrow the additional returns caused alterations.

The race for Democratic state treasurer was close late yesterday but additional returns increasing the lead of John W. Pattison to approximately a 35,000 majority, had apparently given him a safe lead.

F. W. Durbin gained on Charles B. Zimmerman over night and his results were expected to favor him. Zimmerman's lead had been cut to slightly more than 5,000 today. Both seek the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

WELL KNOWN M'COOK FIELD PILOT FALLS TO DEATH AT DAYTON

After risking his life for three years, daily testing new airplanes for the safety of other pilots at McCook Field, Lieut. E. H. Barksdale acting chief test pilot, was killed in the line of routine duty, Wednesday occurred when he attempted to make a landing in a parachute, after his plane, an experimental Douglas observation ship failed to right from a tail spin into which he had thrown it. He jumped on the inside of the spin and was struck by one of the wings as the revolving craft plunged straight downward. The ropes on Barksdale's parachute became entangled with the falling plane. About 500 feet above earth Barksdale's body was cut from the parachute and he was thrown to the ground and instantly killed. His body fell in Fieldston plat, west of Ridge Ave.

Barksdale was one of the most widely known aviators in the air service and was characterized by Col. William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the service, as the second best flyer in the U. S. army. He served overseas where he was credited with bringing down seven German planes. He was wounded during an air battle and commissioned first lieutenant in the aviation corps in 1918. He went to McCook Field April 14, 1923 from Mitchell Field, Long Island. During his connection with the Dayton field he had many daring air exploits to his credit, among them a record flight from Dayton to New York in four hours and three minutes.

More than a year ago he was piloting a plane at the old Wilbur Wright Field when the tail surfaces left his craft, catapulting him from it. He made one of the shortest parachute drops on record and his observer was killed. The parachute drop that caused his death was the third sensational drop made by him, while at Dayton. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura Barksdale, Grand Ave., Dayton.

OHIO NOT READY TO PUT WOMEN IN RESPONSIBLE POSITIONS

Women Candidates Turned Down at Polls Tuesday—Mrs. Snow Snowed Under—Miss Allen Defeated

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 12.—Ohio is not ready to place women in charge of its major executive and legislative functions.

This was demonstrated at Tuesday's primary election when voters refused to emulate Western and Southwestern states that have elected women to important positions.

Two women who sought places on their respective party tickets were defeated.

Justice Florence E. Allen, who was elected successively to the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas bench and to the Ohio Supreme Court, failed in her attempt to obtain the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. She was defeated by Atlee Pomerene, former Senator. Had she been nominated and elected, she would have been the first woman to have taken a seat in the Upper House of the National Assembly.

The other woman candidate, Mrs. Evelyn Frances Snow, of Mt. Vernon, fell far short of obtaining the necessary vote for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. She was far down the list of aspirants to the position. Mrs. Snow first became interested in politics when she served a more or less stormy term on the State Board of Motion Picture Censors, under former Governor Harry L. Davis.

Both women made active campaigns.

SUPER MOVIES IS PLAN OF MAGNATES

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—A proposed chain of high-class theaters exclusively devoted to motion pictures was discussed at a conference of J. J. Shubert of New York, and I. C. Freed, of Detroit, with Joseph M. Schenck, Chairman of the Board of Directors of United Artists, here today.

Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia were cities under consideration for the establishment of such theaters. One plan, it was said, would provide for operation much along the lines of the legitimate theaters and would bar variety acts.

ARCHBISHOP MAY BE CALLED ON CHARGES OF VIOLATING LAWS

New Confiscation of Churches Adds Fuel To Situation

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12.—Archbishop Mora Del Rio, the aged leader of Catholicism in Mexico, may be summoned before the legal authorities on a charge of sedition in violating a clause of the new religious laws.

Secretary of the Interior Alberto Tejada, has ordered the attorney general to examine a recent statement given by the archbishop to the New York World to determine whether the prelate's expressed sentiments violated the prohibition against members of the clergy criticizing officials of the government or the laws of Mexico. If the attorney general finds the utterances to have been seditious, the ordinary procedure would be to summon the archbishop for a preliminary hearing.

At the moment that the religious situation throughout the country was becoming more tranquil, the announced plan of the government to take over church properties held in the names of individuals as well as by churches themselves added fuel to the controversy, according to Catholic leaders.

The project became known when the secretary of the interior sent Attorney General Ortega plans by which the nation proposed to take over all clerical property on the ground that the clergy is not permitted to possess property.

The newspaper Graphicos states that 100 properties, with a value of $12,500,000 are already denounced.

CHICAGO BAD MEN NOT SO BAD SAY COWBOYS

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—The druggist cowboys of Chicago's loop district, and some from the bordering territory, have been shooting things up in two-gun fashion this week and the bespurred cowboys from the plains country have been on-lookers.

Cowboys from Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico—and some few dozen Indians garbed in their picturesque blankets and other tribal habiliments—are here to take part in Chicago's wild-west rodeo, and the Chicago gunmen have been performing.

For the special amusement of the wild-westerners who, within a few days will be roping, busting and steer-dogging, Chicago's unpurged and docile looking drug store bad-men have put on the following shows:

- 1.—Three murders.
- 2.—One street battle on scenic Michigan Boulevard.
- 3.—One taxicab race through the outer sections of the city.
- 4.—A renewal of beer gang feuds.

E. D. Jackson, Gillette, Wyo., here for the Rodeo, witnessed the shooting of four on Michigan Boulevard.

"It was kinda tame," he exclaimed. "Them boys didn't seem to know much about shooting. They didn't hit any one."

And as an afterthought, "I haven't had so much fun since I left the west. Gee, I wish I had had my irons with me."

MUST MODIFY DEBT DEMANDS IS CLAIM YOUTH SHACKLED TO SHINING STAND

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 12.—Shackled daily for months with a heavy chain about his neck, Salvatore Rossetti, 8 years old, one of ten children of Mr. and Mrs. Luigi Rossetti, was freed today when neighbors reported his imprisonment to police. The boy, said by his parents to be ungovernable, was chained every day at night to an old bootblack stand at the rear of his home, according to neighbors.

After his release the boy fled and a search failed to reveal his hiding place.

Mrs. Rossetti, police said, admitted she chained the child "to keep him from running away."

Even that failed to keep him fast, Mrs. Rossetti said, as he picked or broke several padlocks. When detectives removed the chain the boy wriggled from their grasp and scampered over a fence.

FIFTH SHAFT REACHES FIVE IMPRISONED BY SUBTERRANEAN CAVE-IN

Men Taken From Mine Weak From Hunger and Exposure—Relatives and Friends Cheer As Rescue Effected

SALEM, Ky., Aug. 12.—(United Press)—Five miners trapped last Thursday in the mine of the American Flour-spar and Zinc Co., near here were rescued alive today.

The men were entombed when a drill they were operating six hundred feet from the mine entrance punctured a subterranean lake over their heads.

Five other miners who were in the shaft at the time escaped by fleeing before the rush of water and climbing timbers to safety.

Five hundred men have been working ceaselessly since last Thursday to rescue the men entrapped. Their efforts had been countered by ill-luck time and time again, but their long desperate fight was successful this morning.

Pumps used to keep the water clear became clogged with mud and stopped dead. Drills when used to dig into the shaft where the five men waited, snapped, in the stubborn stone. Other misfortunes attended their efforts.

The five men who were alive to day after a week without food in their tomb were: Roy James, 30; Randolph Cobb, 32; Harry Watson, 26; George Catillo, 37, and U. B. Wilson, 44.

The men were rescued by Freeman Cobb, who crawled into the old shaft of the mine, through mud and slush and met his brother, Randolph Cobb and his brother-in-law, Roy James, who had started to crawl out of the pocket.

These two men were brought out first. Then came back after Catillo, Wilson and Watson.

Rescuers saw an air-line running through the debris to the place where the men were imprisoned by the fall of earth saved the five.

Only last night the squads working frantically to pierce the earth had given up hope that the five miners could still be alive. They believed those who had not died of suffocation or drowned in the running water probably had starved to death.

But the sinking of the new shaft went doggedly forward. It was the fifth attempt to sink a shaft.

Then at 8:15 this morning their long labors were rewarded. The new shaft finally merged with the main shaft. It was only a matter of a few moments to clear away the debris. Fighting an equally disadvantageous fight the five men in the tomb had worked for days to rescue themselves. They had weakly dug away the rock and timber had walled them in.

Rescuers made quick work of the barrier which remained. "They're alive" came back the cry from the bottom of the shaft. Quickly it was taken up by relatives and relief workers who had watched ceaselessly at the mouth of the mine since the accident occurred a week ago. The crowds on the surface went into a frenzy of joy, crying, dancing and praying.

The men were in good condition, according to rescuers, but weak from lack of food and the chill air of the mine.

The five miners were stoical when they reached the surface and were greeted by relatives and friends. Only one of the five appeared to be suffering appreciably from the long imprisonment. He was George Catillo. He fell in a step-off in the mine Sunday night and wrenched his back. Despite his protests he was taken to a hospital.

A child followed Catillo's injury in the mine and his four companions, forgetting their own discomforts, literally covered him with their bodies to ward off the bitter cold which they feared might end his life.

The clothing of the miners was black and soaked with the chilling water that dripped constantly from spar and stalmite in the mine. "I want my mules," was the first thought of Harry Watson as he emerged into the sunlight. "I gotta be getting on home."

Suffering from hunger and palatable drinking water the five men could hear the maddening sound of running water somewhere far below them. Tantalized by the sound they were forced to wait for the dripping of the stalgmite or suck moisture from the old water-soaked timbers supporting the scaffolding.

At last they were unable to endure their thirst any longer, the rotten water from the timbers failing to relieve their burning throats. Watson although stiff and chilled from the cramped position which the men were forced to keep, finally went in search of running water.

Just as he reached the bottom of the scaffolding, Watson saw the lights of the rescuers. "Come on down, boys," he called to the others who had waited to determine the outcome of his adventure.

FROM THE AGE OF TRAILING SKIRTS CROQUET COMES BACK TO POPULARITY

Just a good American family of the 1890's, recreation on the rear lawn. Smacking the croquet ball on its colorful beak is one of the little pleasures being indulged in now.

It heralds the return of the ancient and honorable game of croquet, a boon to garden-party hostesses during the latter part of the nineteenth century and which seems to have passed out of existence about the time that automobiles began to appear with portable tanks on the running board.

What is bringing the garden game back to popular favor, is questionable, but the fact remains that croquet set stock is approaching par in the best sporting goods houses and the click of the wooden balls is drowning out neighborhood arguments. One Xenia family has electrically lighted courts so that the game may be indulged in every evening.

Croquet was played in Southern France as early as the thirteenth century and introduced to England about 1850. Tennis deposed it there from the throne of popularity but it migrated to America where it became a favorite pastime just after the Civil War. Its popularity was in the ascendant then until about the opening of the twentieth century when it began to wane. Perhaps its present favor is an overflow from the golf mania.

Croquet is associated in memory with pompadour coiffeurs, straw sailor hats, puff sleeves, the hour-glass shape the billowing skirt, the flowing mustachios and the derby hat. It thrived during a period when William Jennings Bryan periodically angled for the presidency and was a periodically defeated.

The automobile coming on the scene with a bright red dress right hand drive, a bulb horn, brass decorations and a rear door, found croquet firmly entrenched in the hearts of our countrymen. When people began to wear a boudoir cap, a linen duster and a veil to go out motoring, the croquet set began to be neglected.

By the time the movies began to exert their appeal and penny ice cream cones from push-carts made their appearance croquet had sunk. The tango, the sheath gowns, the kewpie doll, prohibition and the world war passed into discard and croquet remained dormant. Now, in an age of flappers, jokes about walking home, knee-length skirts, synthetic flasks and wise-cracks, it comes back.

The new American tendency is to make the courts large in size and to play with a certain viciousness which makes the swatting of an opponent's ball out of the lot, something to be very much desired.

When croquet reached its peak of popularity, there was some difficulty experienced by women players because their skirts persisted in sweeping the ball out of position.

No apprehension is felt now from this source, although balloon trousers are being investigated as a serious menace and will be ruled off the courts in case they are found to permit of development of the "hidden ball" trick.

WEAD-SCHUREMAN

WEDDING WEDNESDAY
A banquet of ferns and palms, combined with delphinium and gypsophylla, arranged on the side lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wead, Woodland Ave., marked the place where Miss Margaret Wead, secretary of the Greene County Red Cross Chapter, pledged her troth to Mr. David S. Schureman, Cleveland, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The perfect Summer evening, with the first shades of twilight beginning to fall, was in ideal harmony with the rainbow color scheme of the outdoor wedding. One hundred guests were grouped about the lawn to witness the ceremony.

A white muslin pathway marked the course of the bridal party from the Wead home, leading to the improvised altar. Tall standards of blue delphinium and gypsophylla lined the pathway.

The bridal party was led by the dainty flower girls, Margaret Jane Wead, wore a frock of white organdie, with a hat of the same material, applied in rainbow tints and carrying a basket of flower petals. She walked with Jane Underwood, niece of the bridegroom, from Columbus, who was dressed in similar fashion.

The maid of honor came next, Miss Dorothy Hester, Columbus, cousin of the bride. She wore flowered voile and carried an arm bouquet of Pernet roses. The bride's maids, came next, Miss Nellie Weaver, wearing white organdie, Miss Frances Wead, sister of the bride, blue organdie, and Miss Eleanor DeWine, Columbus, lavender in the same material. Their bouquets were of delphinium and pink roses, arranged in an arm spray with a shower.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her girlish attractiveness was enhanced in her gown of pink georgette with touches of lavender. Her hat was also of georgette and her footwear was of pink satin. Her shower bouquet was of orchids, valley lilies, Angelus roses, with a mauve-orchid shower.

The bridegroom, with his best man, Mr. Claude Underwood, brother-in-law of the groom, from Columbus, and the officiating clergyman, the Rev. T. C. Nybladh awaited the bride at the altar. The single ring ceremony marked the Rev. Mr. Nybladh's first wedding since coming to Xenia. He is acting rector of Christ Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Eugene Wead followed the wedding march from Lohengrin, and "I Love You Truly" during the ceremony.

After the reception and congratulations, refreshments were served indoors. Appointments of the decorations and ice-cream carried out the rainbow idea. Covers were laid for ten at the bride's table. Streamers of various pastel shades led to each woman's place, where orchid corsages were found.

Mr. and Mrs. Schureman left Wednesday night for Cleveland. Mrs. Schureman were away a suit of white flannel with white hat and shoes. She will return to Xenia in two weeks to continue her work with the Red Cross and will continue in her office until the close of the Roll Call drive.

Mrs. Schureman has been Red Cross secretary almost a year. She graduated from Central High School in 1917 and immediately took a position in the offices of the city school superintendent and later as clerk of the board of education.

Mr. Schureman is connected with a firm of architects in Cleveland. He is the son of Mrs. S. D. Schureman, Sr., Delaware, Ohio, who attended the wedding with a number of out-of-town guests.

COMPLETE UNOFFICIAL VOTE FAILS TO CHANGE STANDINGS

After a hectic day of tabulation at the board of election's office in the Court House, unofficial returns were completed Wednesday afternoon for the Democratic and Republican primary but the total vote produced no changes in the results.

The total vote cast was exceptionally heavy. It is estimated that upward of 6,400 voters went to the polls, divided as follows: Republican, 5,916; Democratic, 523.

In the Republican gubernatorial contest, Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati realtor and Thad Brown, secretary of state, ran neck and neck in this county, but the downstate business man, after trailing his rival for a time, overcame this lead and the completed tabulation gave him a plurality of more than 400 votes. This contest furnished one of the high spots of interest.

Harvey Elam, unopposed for reelection, for clerk of courts, led both the state and county tickets in Greene County, polling 3,789 votes. Dr. Frank Chambliss, unopposed for coroner, was second with 3,344.

Miss Helen Dodds, the first woman to be elected to a regular term of public office in this county, polled the third highest vote on the ticket, 3,337, remarkable in the face of the fact, four other candidates also sought the office. Miss Dodds drew away easily defeating her nearest opponent, Morris Sharp, by more than two to one.

James O. Mills, Columbus restaurant proprietor, who will be Cooper's running mate in November, was given a vote of 1,170 in Greene County for lieutenant governor, rolling up an impressive margin over ten others in the race.

Governor Donahay's vote in the forty-seven precincts was 385, leaving the remaining three candidates far in the background. He held an approximate four to one lead over A. "Pat" Sandles and more than doubled the combined vote of his opponents.

Complete returns show Ohmer Tate was nominated for sheriff by a plurality of more than 700 votes; County Auditor R. O. Wead was re-nominated by a 1,200 majority, and Recorder B. F. Thomas by a 1,900 majority.

The completed unofficial vote in the various contests follows:

IT BOOSTS BUSINESS

Predictions of a business debacle of serious proportions if the practice of mortgaging future earnings grows are countered by plausible arguments in support of the installment plan advanced by representatives of those businesses which owe their prosperity to the plan.

Proponents of the pay-as-you-use system point out that any great curtailment of the practice would have disastrous consequences, as the consumption of many products would be reduced to a fraction of what it has grown to under the deferred payment plan. It is undisputed that a large part of the population is thrifty enough to meet installments but can not put as systematically away equal amounts in anticipation of paying cash.

This inevitable curtailment of output would result in higher prices, for quantity production has lowered prices, and in the closing of factories and discharging of thousands of workers. There is no disputing the fact that the pay-out-of-income system has multiplied many times over the demand for the more costly articles such as automobiles, pianos, phonographs, radios, good furniture, jewelry, books, clothing and investment securities.

The system is sound so long as it is not overworked. And as long as those who supply the credit do not lose money the system is not overworked. If the system were economically wrong it seems the post-war business depression would have exposed its weakness. It weathered that trying period, and there seems little danger that it will meet stormier days in the near future.

COOLIDGE AND HIS VACATION

Many Americans, advocates of the strenuous life, are concerned about the mild-mannered Coolidge because he does not enter into more active recreations. They recall that other presidents, Taft and Harding, for instance, were devotees of the gold links, that Roosevelt liked to ride horseback, and to walk, more exhilarating than walking or fishing. In fact until this season he has not done anything outside his regular routine, except pitch hay one year on his father's farm.

This leads to a study of the characteristics of men. President Taft and President Harding were each of them jolly, active and predisposed to ebullience. In spite of their happy disposition, work seemed to hang heavily on their shoulders and the making of momentous decisions left noticeable lines in their faces. Not so with President Coolidge. He is phlegmatic to a marked degree. His mental operations seem to be carried on entirely independently of his physical status. Therefore his executive duties do not seem to produce that fatigue of body which usually results under similar onerous responsibilities in other persons.

Many sedentary workers are like him. It is either a constitutional characteristic or a result of early training. Such persons do not need, neither could they endure the strenuous out-door exercise others seem to demand. So worrying over President Coolidge's failure to indulge in more strenuous exercise as a means of keeping himself fit is entirely useless and unnecessary. He'll get along better following his own bent.

DON'T WORRY, MOTHER

Mothers who fret over the strenuousities of misbehaving children should fret no longer, but let the worrying be done by parents of the "teachers' pet."

A child psychologist declares that the qualities that make a young boy a roughneck are the very qualities that make for success in adult life, and that the quiet and retiring children, great favorites of teachers and proud mothers, are in a fair way of becoming social and industrial failures because of the lack of what might be called pugnacity.

This possibly explains why the nice little boys and girls, beloved by teacher and invariably at the head of the class, so often fail to realize the glittering future predicted for them, while the obnoxious, obstreperous, incorrigible goes out grabs the world by the neck and lays up a fat fortune.

INFANTS' BOOTIES
Reader Friends have requested me to publish the following directions:—for crocheted and knitted booties.
Infants' Knitted Booties: One ball each of white and colored three-fold Saxony. A pair of number three bone needles. Top: With the white yarn cast on five stitches. Increase one st. at each end every row till there are fifty-one sts. on needle. Knit plain for twenty-six rows. Change to color and knit five rows plain. With white purl across. Next row knit one stitch, purl one stitch. Next row knit plain. Repeat these last two rows once more, then knit one row. With color, knit four rows, decreasing one st. at each end till forty-eight stitches remain. White yarn, knit two, purl two, for twelve rows. Knit the first eighteen stitches.
Instep: Row One: Purl one st., knit one st., on next twelve sts. Row Two: Turn, knit plain. Repeat these two rows for twenty-two rows.
Foot: Pick up eleven sts. on one side of instep, and knit the eighteen sts. on needle; turn, knit back, pick up eleven sts. on other side of instep and knit the remaining eighteen sts. On all sts, knit eight rows plain. With color, knit four rows, decreasing one st. at each end every fourth row. With white, knit eight rows, still decreasing every fourth row; bind off, taking off the four center sts. at one time to round toe. With color, and right side, pick up fifty-four sts. at top and knit four rows, white four rows. Next row work beading as follows: * knit three yarn over, knit two together, repeat from * across. Knit four rows plain. Color, knit three rows, bind off. Sew up foot and back seam.

Infants' Crocheted Booties: Two balls of white three-fold Saxony and a number two crochet hook (bone or celluloid). Instep: Chain nine, work eight S. C. on ch., for twelve rows. Leg: Add a ch. of fifteen sts. at each end and on all sts. work one row of S. C. Next row work a beading as follows: One double crochet in first st., * ch. one, skip one st., one double crochet in next st., repeat from * across. Now work twenty rows of single crochet, then decrease one st. at each end of every row till twelve sts. remain. Sew up seam and work a beading around top the same as on bottom, work three rows of S. C. and fasten.
Foot: Work one S. C. at bottom all around for ten rows, sew up foot. Run ribbon through beading. Tomorrow—Requested Pickle Recipes.

MAN ARRESTED HERE WILL BE RETURNED TO ALABAMA PRISON

Fred Nowell, alias Henry Nauss, alias Mack Wooten, captured by Xenia police Tuesday afternoon, will probably be returned to Alabama to serve the remainder of his twenty-two year sentence for grand larceny in the state prison unless more convincing evidence is brought to light linking him with attempts at incendiarism in Clark County, it is announced.

Nowell is held in the Clark County Jail on suspicion. He is suspected of being the pyromaniac responsible for a number of fires in Springfield and on farms in outlying districts in recent months. He is said to have escaped from the Alabama state prison after completing twelve years of a twenty-two year sentence under the name of Mack Wooten. Authorities say he was sentenced to prison in 1910 and escaped in 1922 from the Bagdad prison camp. County authorities and a state fire marshal are joining in an investigation to identify Nowell with the man who set fire twice to a farm in Clark County last Sunday. The identification is not complete.

SIDELIGHTS

ON
Greene County History

LAND TROUBLES

Many of the first settlers of the county experienced endless difficulty in getting the titles to their lands straightened out, the difficulty arising from the fact that a certain unnamed and unprincipled Kentuckian sold so many fraudulent tax-rights to unsuspecting settlers.

This made it necessary for some of the settlers to pay for their land a second time, rather than lose it entirely together with all the improvements they had placed on it.

Records of the commissioners bear ample witness to this type of trickery and there were many land grafters in the early days of the county's history.

Most of the land in Greene County was bought for, from $2.50 to $10 an acre.

When a settler was unable to make his payments he frequently was forced to lose everything he had invested, together with whatever improvements he had made.

ABBREVIATED MASK BALL COSTUMES ARE DISCUSSION CAUSE

LONDON, Aug. 12.—London society is still gasping over the variety of costumes—some allegedly greatly abbreviated—worn by some of the guests who attended the mask dance given by the Duchess of Sutherland at Hampden House. Prominent among those in attendance were the King and Queen of Spain, who did not appear in mask dress and the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince Henry, both of whom appeared in henk's dress.

Everybody was there and "everybody" in England means all who count for anything in official blue books. The greatest sensation of the evening was caused when eight of the most beautiful women in the United Kingdom appeared as a rowing crew from Eaton. The crew had a coxswain, Alfred Duff Cooper, husband of Lady Diana Manners. He shouted orders to his crew as they rowed their cardboard boat across the ballroom floor. They afterwards fell exhausted into the depths of the craft.

The crew consisted of Lady Victor Paget, Lady Brocknole, Lady Edinham, Lady Loughborough, Mrs. Richard Norton, Mrs. Dudley Ward, Mrs. Lionel Tennyson and Miss Poppy Baring.

CHILD BRUISED BY AUTO WEDNESDAY

Mary Elizabeth Espey, three-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul D. Espey, 122 N. Detroit St., was bruised but not badly hurt when she stepped into the path of an automobile driven by J. C. Ankeney, 11½ W. Market St., as she was crossing to the east side of N. Detroit St., to see her grandfather early Wednesday afternoon.

Ankeney exerted a supreme effort to avoid an accident skidding the car a great distance but the fender brushed the child to one side, according to Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin who witnessed the accident.

The accident happened in front of Espey Hospital. The child apparently failed to see the approaching machine as she walked across the street.

East Side - West Side

—OF—
New York

By Jack O'Donnell

Don Marquis, poet, philosopher, wit and, most important of all, regular person, was recently referred to by a prominent fiction writer as having "the finest mind in New York." It is beginning to dawn on a few of the self-elected "intelligentsia" that Don is one of America's first poets and a great thinker. As a wit he is famous for classic "lines." His most recent "line" was spoken at a certain club. Don was trying to stir up a Kelly pool game. Three men declined. They said they had work to do. Don grew peevish about it.

"That isn't any excuse," he declared. "I've got work to do too, but I refuse to let my will power master me."

There is a Miss Marquis, aged six. She has apparently inherited some of the genius of her father and she is evidently one of the rebellious flappers of the younger generation. Recently she decided she'd had plenty of schooling. She was informed that she must go to school.

"All right," she said. "I'll go if I have to, but I don't want to. And I'll get even. If we have subtraction I'm gonna add."

"Front" is worshipped in New York. There is a certain famous editor who always makes it a point to be late at such affairs as banquets, first nights and so on. He wants to make certain that every person present shall know that he, too, is there. At a recent important banquet he arrived twenty minutes late. He shook hands with the toastmaster and apologized profusely—while the crowd took him in. Then he turned, shook hands and talked earnestly with an important looking individual standing hard by the toastmaster.

"We will go on with the dinner," the toastmaster his eyes a twinkle informed the other diners, "as soon as Mr. Whoozles has finished his talk on world politics with the head waiter."

In the swarming Italian section fringing on Greenwich Village, where a thousand folk live within the compass of a city block, Village life takes on an unexpected intimacy and kindness despite the urban influences of subways and tabloid papers.

Here and there among the tenements are charming little studios where young village couples find it not only possible but quite attractive to live at about a third of the cost of a more fashionable uptown establishment. One of these housewives, newly arrived in the neighborhood, went a-marketing at the chain grocery on the corner. The store manager, true to type, was as Irish as Tammany Hall. The young bride was formerly a Brady.

"And how much are the eggs?" she inquired breezily.

"Sure, ma'am, the white ones are seventy-nine cents and the brown ones are sixty-nine," replied the storekeeper. "Ye'd best take the white ones, for they're the best."

"Go long, now," said she of the market basket. "I'm on to your gags. Sure, I know all the eggs came from the same crate and you separated the white ones from the brown to get a fancier price. I'll take a dozen of the brown eggs, if you please."

The grocer was hugely amused and a shopping acquaintance was begun, the tradesman having a healthy respect for this kindred spirit. Not many days later the housewife came to the store to purchase groceries and presented in payment a twenty dollar bill. The store manager was a bit stumped.

"Sure, now, Miss, that's more money than I have in the store," he told her. "But I tell you what. You take this, (he handed her a five dollar bill from the till) and go along and do the rest of your shopping. You can pay me back next time you come to the store."

No, New York is not too large for kindness and humanity, the same brand you'll find in every home community in the country.

Today's Talk

THE FRIENDLY HOTEL

I stopped at a hotel the other day that I was sorry to leave. From the time I stepped into it until I left, there was the most gracious and considerate attitude on the part of everyone from the bell boys to the manager.

I thought of the many hotels I had visited that I was glad to leave. Places where you felt that you were tolerated and that was all.

A hotel should always be a home. The stranger is usually far from home and may know no one in that town. To feel that he is wanted in that town as a visitor makes him want to stay and get acquainted—and when he goes he likes to tell the folks at home about the place.

No matter how favored we may be in this world, we all get lonely. And the loneliest place in the world is a hotel where you feel that you are alone.

But when the manager greets you and wishes you a happy stay and success in whatever you attempt in that town, you go to your task with greatly increased heart.

A hotel is first of all a servant and when it departs from that opportunity, it's just a trading place—room and bath so much, meals so much, and so on.

Service should be foremost. Mr. Statler, who has built so many great hotels, instructs his helpers to remember the guest—that he is always right. Most hotels take the attitude that the guest is always wrong and that he has rights, but they cost money.

In a hotel the guest may be wrong, but he should be made to feel that he is right. The friendly hotel is its own best advertisement. It never need feel that he is right.

POLLY GETS ALL THE ATTENTION

By Jay V. Jay

The charming young woman in the crepe frock with the oddly shaped applique trimming is, hospitably, about to offer Polly another glass of spiced lemonade. The Goofy, too, is suddenly attentive.

Polly wonders why she is getting all the service—as though Polly didn't look pretty enough in her shirred frock with the ridiculous little jacket to match to make anyone want to be nice to her.

The lady with the very new and fashionable moire hat is about to engage Polly in conversation, and the hostess, who wears a gown of periwinkle blue, thinks that another glass of lemonade would satisfy.

As a matter of fact it isn't Polly's virtues—it's Mitzi's sins. Mitzi has found such an attractive man and Mitzi is admiring him so whole-heartedly that no one has the cruelty to interfere.

The Theatre

Upon his return to Hollywood after a prolonged Eastern trip, Jack Pickford confirmed the rumors of the separation between him and his wife, Marilyn Miller, musical comedy star. But no one was greatly surprised because Mary's little brother has been living in California and Marilyn working in "Sunny" in New York for several months.

It's a "friendly separation" of course—but another case where two persons of the same temperaments and ambitions can't agree. And they say Marilyn has been seeing a great deal of Ben Lyon. They are regular patrons of the Broadway night clubs.

Ben has been getting his name in the newspapers as the most expensive member of the Actors' Equity. It seems Ben owes the Equity $500 in dues and while less fortunate members of the profession pay up regularly and gladly, Ben drew the line at coughing up for his obligations. All of which doesn't do him a bit of good for Ben makes a big salary and should know better.

Another bit of gossip concerning one of the parties of an estranged marriage is that concerning Mary Hay, Dick Barthelmess' wife and John Gilbert. John has been paying court to Mary who left Dick out on the West Coast to dance on Broadway. Gilbert is evidently trying to get over his crushed spirit when Leatrice Joy separated from him. Leatrice's divorce has been made final but his romance with Mary Hay cannot culminate until she and Dick settle their differences.

For the third time Carlyle Blackwell, "the handsome man in the movies" enter matrimony. His bride is the only daughter of the late Barney Barnato, South American diamond king. The "Diamond Princess" is one of the richest women in the world. They were married last week at London registry.

Just Folks

STARS
The stars eternal hold their place. They were when first the world began. Not one of them does time erase. How different with the light of man.

A flash of brilliance marks his day. An hour he leads and sets the pace. His lustre quickly fades away. And then another takes his place.

Youth thunders on his path with threats. His conqueror runs not far behind. He stumbles, falters, or forgets. And men another hero find.

The stars eternal hold their place. Man shines a little while at most. So brief his day, so swift the pace. That only fools of triumph boast.

XENIA GOLFERS AVERAGE LOSS BY DEFEATING MIDDLETOWN HERE

Playing in improved form over the sun-baked fairways and billiard table greens, thirty-two golfers composing the match team of the Xenia Country Club gained revenge for a previous defeat earlier in the season, by trouncing the Middletown Country Club 59 to 40, Nassau count, in a return inter-city match over the local nine-hole course Wednesday afternoon.

With sixty-four players from both clubs participating in the eighteen-hole match, the fairways were more crowded than in any previous tournament or match ever

INDIAN MATE SOON REVERTED TO TYPE HIS WIFE REVEALS

(This is the second of five articles written for the United Press by Betty Kurlow, former University Co-ed describing her life as the wife of a minor Indian potentate, Abani Kumar Bose of Baroot, East Bengal India. After going through many experiences in Calcutta and in Abani's jungle harem, she escaped and came to Chicago, where she obtained a divorce, in her first article, Miss Kurlow told of Abani's whirlwind courtship while both were university students, of their marriage in Chicago and of the fury of Abani's family when they learned he had married an "unclean one.")

BY BETTY KURLOW
Written For United Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Abani began to talk about going to India, to his home in Baroot. He said he wanted to take me to his family so they could see he had not married beneath himself. I reminded him of his promise to stay in America.

He replied sullenly that he only wanted to visit India and would bring me back to Chicago in a few weeks, just as soon as he had proven to his family that I was worthy of being his wife.

I finally consented to go for a short visit. We sailed for Calcutta in January, 1918, from New York. On the voyage across the Atlantic and through the Mediterranean, my husband was the same wonderful man he had always been—broad-minded, calm and clear-headed, except that he seemed to brood on the way his mother and brothers had accepted the announcement of our marriage.

Calcutta was my first glimpse of a world entirely different from what I had been accustomed to. Rioting was then being carried on against British rule. English soldiers patrolled the dirty streets, the few white people were feared and spit at by the natives as they passed through the city.

It was then too, I learned Abani was an ardent follower of Mahatma Gandhi, nationalist leader, whose slogan was "India for Indians." My husband, the nobleman who had spent years in the United States learning American ways was an anti-white agitator! I was worried. And he had seemed to change subtly as soon as he had landed in India. He took less notice of me, being intent, seemingly on only one thing—the forcing of my acceptance by his family, which was then staying in Calcutta. Abani soon lost his American mannerisms completely. He reverted back to an Indian. He was silent, morose and quarrelsome. His family however, accepted me into their home.

The Indians, however, are a people of moods. One day they would treat me as an equal and the next I would be nothing more than a servant. I wore the long flowing robes of the Indian women and the veil she is forced to keep over her face, when men are present. In every way I tried to please my husband's relatives.

And I would have succeeded had it not been for their Brahmin priest.

The priest's daily duty was performing a religious ceremony night and morning for the Bose family. When I arrived he refused to continue the services. He vowed that his was an untouchable and even threatened to oust the Bose family from the church—all on account of me.

Of course the rulers of Baroot were angry, both at me and at the priest. Abani finally decided to have his brother take me to the family castle in Baroot while the hire of another priest was negotiated. Then too, Abani said he wanted me to meet his mother who was staying at the Palace in the wilds of East Bengal.

And that awful palace—I can smile about it now—but when I was forced to stay in it for months I thought seriously of committing suicide.

MT. TABOR

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Toms and daughter, Lura, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Keiter, of near Xenia.

Harvey Kyle and family, of Bridgeport, and Virgil Dinwiddie, of Xenia, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Hollingsworth and family.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fawcett, of New Jasper, is spending the week with her son, Fred Fawcett.

Leonard Glass and family, of near Cedarville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Benton Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Levalley and son, Earl, of Mayaville, Oklahoma, have returned home after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. S. B. LeValley.

S. S. Classes Meet
The regular monthly meeting of the Loyal Sons' and Daughters' Sunday School classes was held at the home of Ray Griffith, Tuesday evening, with a good attendance.

About sixty were present, including members and visitors. After the usual business meeting a social time was spent. Refreshments of sandwiches, ice cream and cake were served, late in the evening. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kyle.

At the Church—Sunday School, Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Riley Jones, Supt.

held at the club.
G. Sebald, Middletown golfer, turned in the low card of the match for the two rounds, shooting a seventy-four, six above par. Sebald shot both rounds in thirty-seven, three over par for the course.

Play of Robert Currie was outstanding for Xenia. Currie had a mediocre forty-one his first round but settled down to his natural game on the second trip and handed in a card of thirty-six, two above par, for seventy-seven, his eighteen holes.

This inter-city match victory brought the local record for the season to three victories against but one defeat. Xenia will visit the Washington C. H. Country Club for a second match August 18.

The visiting Middletown golfers and the Xenia team enjoyed dinner at the club house following the match.

SECOND BASEBALL GAME ON THURSDAY

Second of the three-game series of soft ball games between the rival clubs will feature the first annual combined Rotary-Kiwanis Clubs picnic Thursday evening.

The contest will be played at Cox Memorial Athletic Field and will be called at 5 o'clock after which the organizations will spread a picnic lunch on the lawn near the new Masonic Temple in the Dodds Addition.

Kiwanis won the first of the series two weeks ago in a slugfest, 11 to 10. Both clubs have strengthened their lineups considerably it is announced, and Rotary is confident of evening the series to make a third game necessary.

The Junior Business Men's Club has challenged the winner of the series.

ADMIT JUDGMENT IN LOCAL COURTS

In the case of J. A. Harper against Nina M. Price and others in Common Pleas Court, the defendants, Nina M. Price and Victor L. McColl have confessed judgment on an obligation for $2,652.

SUES ON NOTE
Alleging $2,671.69 is due on two promissory notes, Joseph W. Dice has brought suit against Adelaide Skinner in Common Pleas Court.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE WILL ORGANIZE AT MEETING FRIDAY

Reorganization of the newly elected Greene County Republican Central Committee will take place at a meeting in the assembly room, of the Court House, Friday night, at 7 o'clock.

Chief business to come to the attention of the twenty-four committeemen, elected at the Tuesday primary, will be the election of an Executive Committee, which, in turn, will select a committee chairman.

Indications Thursday pointed to a shift in the control of Republican party politics in Greene County from the Marshall-Gowdy faction to the new Wead faction, resulting from a reduction in the Marshall factional representatives on the Central Committee.

As there are but twenty-four members of the Central Committee, thirteen or more members, hostile to the Marshall policies, would mean the termination of his party control.

Sentiment for the selection of County Auditor R. O. Wead as chairman of the new executive committee was freely expressed.

F. L. Johnson is attorney for the plaintiff.

CLAIMS ERROR

Jack Price, convicted in Probate Court on a charge of illegal possession of liquor and fined $500 and costs, has named the state of Ohio defendant in a petition in error filed in Common Pleas Court. Plaintiff, through Attorney F. L. Johnson, seeks the setting aside of the judgment, claiming error in his conviction.

BOWLING LEAGUE WILL RE-ORGANIZE

Re-organization of the Xenia Bowling League will be effected at a meeting of local bowling enthusiasts at the Arcade Billiard Parlor, St. Detroit St., Friday night, August 13, at 8 o'clock, it is announced.

If present plans are carried out, the league will be composed of ten teams this fall instead of the eight clubs which have comprised the loop in the past two years. It is also the present intention to draw up a schedule and have the league open early in September, probably the second or third week.

All mineralite artists interested in the league's organization are invited to attend the Friday meeting.

"Not Possible To Classify" By Mack Sauer

OH, WHAT A PAL IS MARY
Away with your girls with their sloppy galoshes,
Your bobbed haired young beauties with cheeks tinted red;
With your powdered young cuties I think I'd be cautious,
They might suit you youngsters, but I'll take instead
My old-fashioned Mary, my freckle-faced Mary, my soup-eating Mary,
Who washes my head—

O, some may be fair, just a bit above twenty,
And willing to enter some thrilling romance;
Perhaps a young widow with money plenty
Is pretty as blazes and like blazes can dance;
Yet, I'll stay with Mary, my own cross-eyed Mary, my two-fisted Mary,
Who patches my pants.

Perhaps they have lips that are sweet and alluring
And arms that are ruffled in soft velveteens;
They may spend their days in snoring and snoring
And ride half the nights in sporty machines;
But I'll ride with Mary, my red-headed Mary, my own Cousin Mary,
Who cooks all my beans.

'Tis true the young pretties sometimes find me glancing,
For sometimes I fall when I see a cute maid;
But when I go out for an evening at dancing
I know that through all the dances I'll wade
With old-fashioned Mary, my freckle-faced Mary, my own cousin Mary,
For in wealth she does wade.

You look upon a woman's dress and wonder where she bought it; you wonder which is front or back, but only she has got it. Perhaps your wife once bought a dress, but never did she wear it; she never even mused it up, of course she didn't tear it. And if you wonder what to do, I guess I'll have to tell it; phone in a Want Ad right away, and quickly you will sell it.

SAYS WITCH

Did wifey want a tea-set
Or with it a settie?
I can't set in a tea-set
And a settie can't set tea.

The people of Xenia are honest. Persons who find lost articles on the streets make it a point to return them promptly. We know this because many returns are made to advertisers in The Gazette Lost and Found columns every day. Don't despair, Don't wear. Use a Gazette Lost Ad.

The Newest Ford—the Air Flivver

The aerial flivver is now a matter of fact. Henry Ford is seen here inspecting the latest Ford product, a tiny monoplane that measures but 18 feet from tip to tip, weighs only 300 pounds—and develops 100 miles an hour.

The Gilded Rose

By May Christie

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

ROSILYN RIDGEWAY learns on her wedding day from the groom that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an over-worked little drudge in her father's inn.

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, her husband is a brilliant, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother.

FLORENCE RIDGEWAY, an aristocratic old lady, who saw poverty staring her in the face, and chose the easiest way out. Rosilyn loving her husband, knows that he is still in love with Lydia Harbrook, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying.

STEVIE VAN VORST, a wealthy old roue, although she is really fond of Ridgeway. She is in Paris when the news reaches her of Landis' marriage and she hastens back to the United States. With her goes Rupert Briscoe, a dissipated man of the world, who has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and when the two reach New York, she suggests that they ask the young Ridgeways to dinner.

She and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby through an apparent misunderstanding Rosilyn and Briscoe will be left alone together, while she will be with her beloved Landis.

Landis, finding himself alone with Lydia falls under her spell once more. Some hours later that evening, Rosilyn who is bewildered to find herself spending the evening in the company of Rupert Briscoe, sees her husband dancing with Lydia—in his eyes a look of rapture. She believes he has seen her but is too rude—or ashamed—to speak. Briscoe asks her to go on to a nightclub, and in a mood of recklessness she consents.

In Paris Van Vorst, realizing the reason for Lydia's sudden trip to America and hungering for her love, decides to use Marietta, a dancer and sweetheart of Briscoe's in connection with a plan. These two arrange to come to New York where Marietta is to vamp Landis away from Lydia, leaving a clear field for the elderly schemer.

Landis continues philandering with Lydia while Rosilyn to help forget the pangs of jealousy, allows Briscoe to pay her more flattering attention. The next day the latter drives her to the station where she is to meet her husband before they leave for their country home.

Upon arrival at their destination Landis shamefacedly confesses his admiration for Rosilyn and his own unworthiness, also suggesting that each might find it wiser to pursue a different course.

CHAPTER 44
OLD FLAMES

Before the long pier-glass in her hotel bedroom stood Miss Lydia Harbrook, twisting and turning to view herself the better in her lovely orchid gown.

She was going to a race meeting. Landis Ridgeway was to be her escort.

Sartorially speaking, then, all records must be beaten. Having won back that "difficile" young man, she must leave no stone unturned to keep him hers. And she had planned that Steve Van Vorst remained in France. For Van Vorst and his money were terribly important to her schemes. Lydia wasn't of the stupid type to "fall between two stools."

He could be very jealous and disturbingly astute, at times, could old Van Vorst.

But he was far across the Atlantic, and today the sun shone, and Landis Ridgeway, in the new Rolls Royce his wife had given him, would be calling for her—in all her amazing beauty—within half-an-hour.

Lydia proudded before the looking-glass, conscious that nothing in the world could have been more utterly becoming than the slim, airy, orchid gown she wore. It was fashioned in two shades of ninon, with appliqued leaves of the same material trailing from the low girldle to the wide hem.

Down on her smartly shingled golden head was drawn a drooping "picture" hat of pleated tulle, in the same orchid shade. A bow set at a chic angle gave the impression that a gauze butterfly had rested on the crown.

Delicate grey shoes of softest suede, with buckles that had cost twenty-five dollars, were matched by long grey gloves on Lydia's slender arms. She carried an absurdly pretty little parasol of hand-painted chiffon done in sweetest colorings, lined with pale pink tulle.

Around her neck was slung a chain of small, fine amethysts on platinum. It had been a gift from Van Vorst, and gave the final touch to her toilette.

The telephone resounded. "That you, Lydia? Landis speak ing. Down below." "I'll join you in two seconds." Her usually flinty heart gave a quite unaccustomed flutter. She darted to the dressing table, flicking a swans-down puff across her nose and cheeks and chin.

What a reassuring ally was her looking glass! It gave back a really fascinating picture. Landis—when his weary eyes rested on that picture—would be doubly hers.

Catching up a long scarf made of flat ostrich feathers in shades of tints of lavender and mauve, Lydia adjusted it in the newest fashion, the ends falling to the back. She then drew on her gloves, and with a gold mesh purse containing some bills, plus all the "aids to beauty," (without which the siren would not have stirred one step from cover) dangled from her wrist, she went downstairs to meet her cavalier.

Landis—his dark eyes set in the questing look in them—was pacing moodily up and down the lobby.

Those eyes of his lightened when he saw the lovely apparition.

He strode forward to greet her, his teeth a flash of white in his dark face.

"Not angry with me for keeping you kicking your heels so long?" queried the young woman—gaily, bedevilled and tenderness forming an intoxicating mixture in her glance.

"It was worth the waiting," came the meaning answer. Then, after he handed her into the car:

"Lydia, you've never looked more enchanting than at this moment!"

She bowed merrily, at the same time catching a glimpse of herself in a strip of mirror set into the wall. The Rolls was open to the sunshine, and a becoming mauve-tinted light filtered through the charming Paris hat to make a delicate radiance on her face.

Her voice was low, and had an ineffable sweetness as she said: "All I care about, Landis, is to be lovely in your eyes!"

"Do you mind if I smoke? I'll be awfully careful of your gown. And will you have a cigarette, too?"

She shook her head. "You go ahead. I don't mind. Let me light it for you."

With a pretty gesture, she applied the match. She saw, with satisfaction, that the long brown fingers which held the cigarette trembled.

"Pleased to see me, Landis?" She moved the fraction of an inch nearer him. The faint, intoxicating fragrance of her rose to his head, like incense.

"Lydia! What a question! I've been literally counting the hours!" She raised her beautifully pencilled brows.

"Until you break loose from matrimony? Somehow, Landis"—she gave her tinkling little laugh, just like a bird's song—"I can't see you in that role!"

"Don't, Lydia!" The restless light was in his handsome eyes.

TWO HOMES MADE HAPPY

By Women Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I ever tried," is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of May View, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

Mrs. J. Storms of 29 Lane Street, Paterson, N. J., writes: "I can not speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."

These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound.

Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. When women are suffering from lack of strength and from weakness, their own life and that of their families is affected. When they feel well and strong and are able to do their household work easily, happy homes are the result.

again. "Don't rub it in! Today let's just be happy!" She took the cigarette from his lips, giving it a dainty puff or two.

"Here, take it back again." Their hands touched for a magic moment. Her usually cold veins responded to his fire.

"It's wonderful to see you again, Landis. Somehow, at the last minute, I thought you might be detained at Royal Cliff. Or I thought perhaps the car might be required."

Under his tan he flushed at the insinuation of servitude. Rosilyn is generous," he said stiffly. "The car is mine. She has her own."

"And goes her own way?" Lydia supplemented archly. He bit his lip.

"Shall we change the subject?" She saw her tactical error. Tomorrow—The Spanish Dancer Appears.

STATE AMENDMENT FOR CITY PLANNING DEFEATED TUESDAY

The proposed city planning amendment to the state constitution, affecting property owners whose land abuts on an improvement, drew an unfavorable vote in Greene County, the proposal losing locally 3,062 to 1,676 with the complete unofficial returns from forty-seven precincts tabulated.

Passage of the amendment would enable the making of a number of improvements which otherwise would be impossible.

The amendment was designed to eliminate the present system under which fifty percent of the cost of an improvement is borne by persons directly benefitted by the improvement and the remainder by the public at large.

One of the leading arguments in favor of revision of this system was that if this burden is carried entirely by those who derive benefit from the improvement, the extra fifty per cent may be applied to other city necessities, spreading the revenue over a surface twice as large as formerly. The amendment lost all over the state.

Just Two Left!

There are just TWO of these McD Manure Spreaders left from the exhibit out at the Fair and these will be sold to the first two Greene County Farmers who come in BEFORE Wednesday at 6 p. m. There is a $25 DISCOUNT on these TWO ONLY!

Here's A Few Facts About Them

1—Manure can be laid on as THICK or as THIN as you wish WHILE SPREADER IS IN MOTION.

2—Warping of box by moisture does NOT affect working parts as these work independently being attached to an ALL STEEL FRAME.

3—Manure receives THREE BEATINGS before it reaches the soil thus insuring an even distribution.

4—Spreader can be turned SQUARE about as front wheels are equipped with auto steering device.

5—Spreader has narrow width making it easy to go through doors and gates.

7—The increased crops you get from its use make these spreaders PAY FOR THEMSELVES.

Here Are Things You Should Be Thinking About Now!

Folks don't come in casually these days and say—"Mack, gimme a couple of those fresh cornpickers. Wrap 'em up."

The practice in these parts is to do a bit of pondering and figgering BEFORE they DECIDE on an investment of this sort. Am I RIGHT?

But the careful thoughtful SUCCESSFUL farmer plans AHEAD and doesn't wait until the last minute before he knows what he's going to do.

And NOW is the time to do that planning and thinking.

And we want you to very SERIOUSLY focus your mental apparatus on such things as Corn Binders, Corn Pickers, Corn Huskers, Ensilage Cutters, Tractors, Wheat Drills for the next few weeks. From time to time we will do our BEST to REMIND you of these but don't depend on us TOO much—depend on yourself!

Yours very truly,
Wm. B. McCallister, G. M.
